

Hurricane Esther Threatens Coast Of North Carolina

Mass Evacuation Begun in Low-Lying Communities

CAPE HATTERAS, N.C. (AP)—Hurricane Esther churned toward the North Carolina coast today triggering the start of a mass evacuation from dangerous low-lying areas.

The whirling giant carried winds up to 150 miles per hour. "Safety precautions should be started now," the Weather Bureau warned. "Some escape routes will become flooded as waters rise to day and tonight."

Hurricane warnings were raised this morning from Cherry Point, N.C., northward to the Virginia Capes. Gale force winds were forecast for that portion of the coast and were forecast to increase to hurricane strength—75 miles per hour.

Warnings Extended
Gale warnings were extended northward from the Virginia Capes to Cape May, N.J., and over the south half of Chesapeake Bay. Hurricane watch continues northward from Myrtle Beach, S.C., to Cherry Point and from the Virginia Capes to Cape May.

At 8 a.m., the Weather Bureau said the big storm was 335 statute miles southeast of Cape Hatteras and bearing toward the coast at 14 miles an hour.

Rising tides and seas already were buffeting this coast line, known as the graveyard of the Atlantic.

But the Weather Bureau said the northwesterly curve of the storm could carry the eye, or center of the storm, just off the coast.

Coastal residents, veterans of many a big blow, worked throughout the night, moving house trailers to higher ground at Morehead City, about 75 miles from Cape Hatteras.

Tides Above Normal
Tides were running up to three feet above normal and the ocean was rough with heavy swells. The Coast Guard said the swells have existed for "two or three days," possibly caused by earlier hurricanes.

The Weather Bureau warned that "Hurricane Esther is dangerous with maximum winds 150 miles per hour near the center. Gales extend outward some 350 miles except 200 miles in the southwest quadrant."

The hurricane was expected to come within range of the powerful Cape Hatteras for the first time about noon.

Although Esther no longer is believed to be producing gusts as

U.N. Looks for Bitter Clash For Leadership

Deadlock Expected Between West and Communist Bloc

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The prospect of an East-West clash over a new U.N. secretary-general to succeed Dag Hammarskjöld cast a shadow over the opening of the U.N. General Assembly today. Already faced with grave cold war issues, the session may be the most crucial in the United Nations' history.

Within hours after Hammarskjöld's death in an African plane crash Monday, stunned delegates began casting about for a way to avoid an East-West deadlock that would paralyze the secretariat, the administrative arm of the world organization.

Board May Be Named
There was speculation that the assembly might delegate a board of ranking U.N. officials to make decisions until a new secretary-general can be chosen.

Most of those being mentioned as candidates came from the non-aligned nations of Asia and Africa, who now hold almost a majority in the assembly. There was no indication of firm support behind any one of them.

A new secretary-general must get past the threat of a Soviet veto, which the Soviets could exercise if they decide, as expected, to push their plans for reorganizing the United Nations and curb the powers of the secretariat developed by Hammarskjöld.

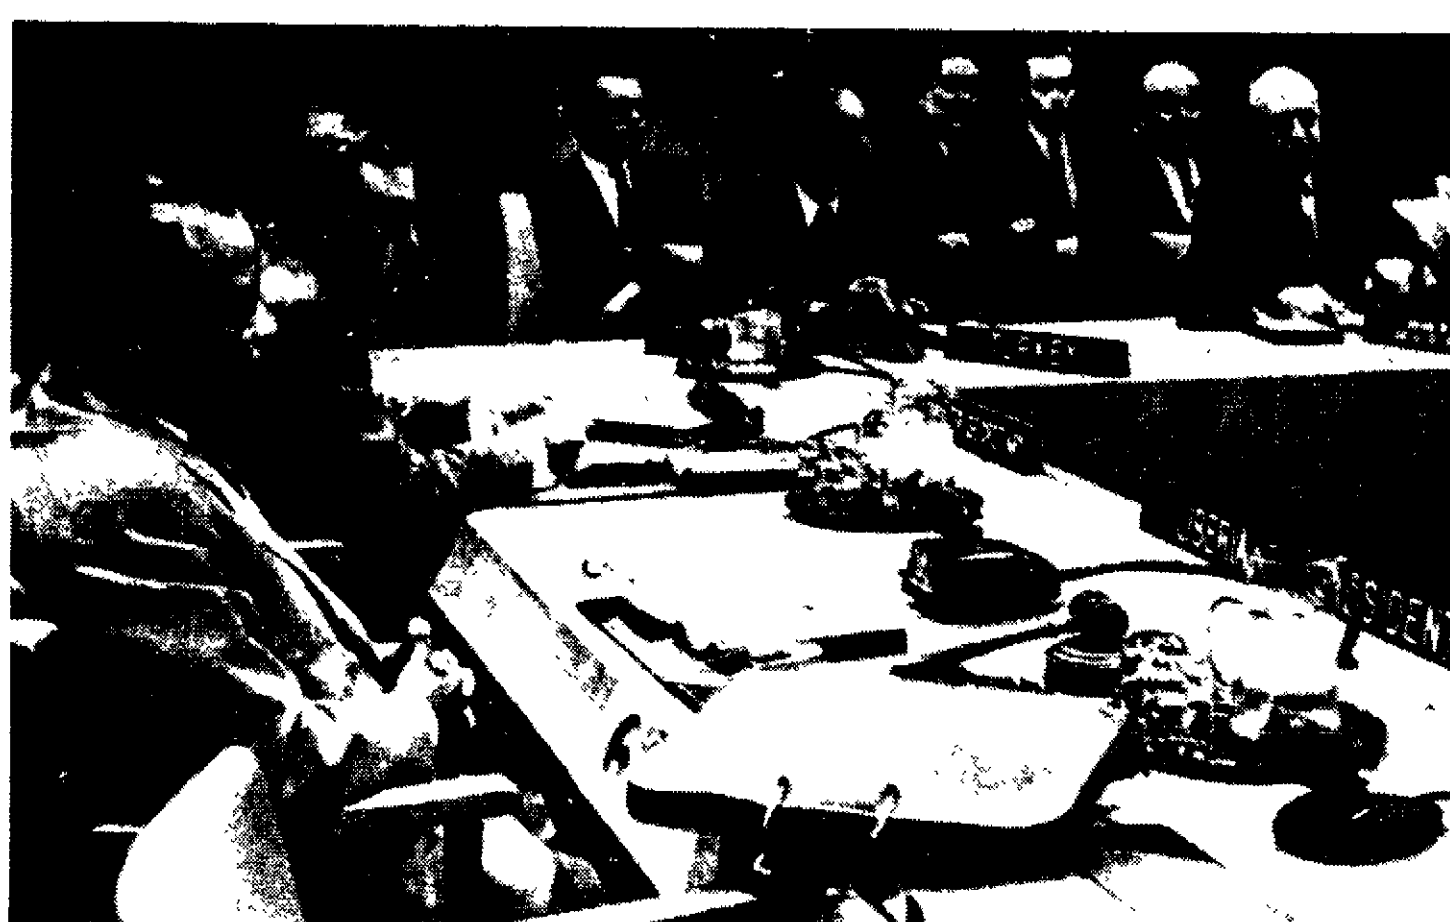

Council Must Agree
A new secretary-general must be nominated by the Security Council with the agreement of all building. Its bombs fell wide but five permanent members — the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France and China. Then the nomination must be approved by the General Assembly.

The assembly was confronted by a long agenda of 5 items including such cold war issues as Red China's admission, testing nuclear weapons and disarmament. The Berlin crisis also may come up.

Wisconsin's 32nd Division Called Into Active Service

The Chair Normally Occupied by U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld on the Security Council is vacant today as members of the body meet for closed session to consider the impact of Hammarskjöld's death on the world organization. Ham-marksjöld was killed in a plane crash in Africa. Clockwise they are council president Nathan Barner of Liberia who called the session, U.N. Undersecretary Gerogy P. Arkadev, Turkey's Turgut Menemencioğlu and Russia's Valerin Zorin.

Texas' Armored Unit Also Included in Announcement By Secretary of Defense

MADISON (AP) — Maj. Gen. Ralph Olson said today that Wisconsin's 32nd National Guard division has been ordered into federal service, and that the crack infantry division will report at Ft. Lewis, Wash., Oct. 15.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two National Guard divisions — the 32nd Infantry of Wisconsin and the 49th Armored of Texas — are being called to active duty.

Announcement of this action was expected at an afternoon news conference scheduled by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The two guard divisions, along with two others, were put on notice Sept. 6 that they faced possible call-up.

The other two divisions given priority ratings and slated for re-enforcement to full strength are the 26th Infantry of Massachusetts and the 28th Infantry of Pennsylvania.

Call-up of the Wisconsin and Texas divisions will raise army strength to 16 divisions. In addition, there are three combat-ready marine divisions.

The federalization of the two national guard units appears to set the stage for possible movement to Germany of two — and perhaps more — regular army divisions now based in the United States.

The probability is that the two guard divisions will be subjected to intensified training to bring them to combat readiness, available for use overseas if the Berlin crisis deepens or trouble breaks out some other place.

Possible Showdown
This is the latest in a series of military buildup actions taken by the Kennedy administration as the Berlin crisis became graver and the possibility of a military showdown with Russia became more serious.

On Sept. 9 the Pentagon announced that 40,000 troops were being ordered to Europe to strengthen the 7th army in Germany and to bring other U.S. forces in Europe to full fighting strength.

The army also has been sending across numbers of armored troop carriers intended to give the three infantry divisions in Germany much greater mobility. In addition to these three infantry divisions, the army has two armored divisions in place facing the Iron Curtain.

No Postal Rate Boost This Term

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said today there will be no postal rate increase bill in this session of congress.

"Postal rates will not come up," McCormack told newsmen. He said President Kennedy had been informed at a White House meeting this morning that there is no chance for the increase because he had requested to reduce the postal deficit.

No Signs of Sabotage Uncovered in Hammarskjöld Airplane Tragedy

U.N. Delegation Continues Peace Efforts in Katanga

NDOLA, Northern Rhodesia (AP) — A high-ranking U.N. delegation arrived in Ndola today seeking to carry through the Katanga peace talks shattered by Dag Hammarskjöld's death in a plane crash.

The chief U.N. negotiator is Mahmoud Khiari, chief of civil operations in the Congo.

He flew to Ndola from Leopoldville while U.N. intelligence experts probed riddles of the wreck that killed the secretary-general.

A British government statement said a further task for the delegation will be to help identify the mutilated bodies of some of Hammarskjöld's entourage.

German Reds Make Use of Loudspeakers

BERLIN (AP) — The Communists have brought a new weapon into their war of nerves against West Berlin.

All along the concrete and barbed wire barriers of the divided city, they have opened up with a barrage of loudspeakers turned at full strength toward West Berlin.

They blew out propaganda, threats, scorn and flattery — interspersed with American jazz and German waltzes.

Some of the loudspeakers are mounted on trucks. Others are hung in trees overlooking the border or fixed to the boundary fence.

Loudspeakers Guarded
The loudspeakers are guarded by People's Police and Communist army patrols with submachine guns and hand grenades.

The Communists call this free entertainment for West Berliners "Radio August 13."

Aug. 13 was the day the East Germans sealed off West Berlin to stop the flood of refugees fleeing from Walter Ulbricht's Communist rule.

The programs usually open at 5 a.m., startling thousands of West Berliners out of their sleep.

At most points, the noise continues throughout the day. "This is the real voice of the German people," the announcer says.

Sanctions Could Lead to Coup, Trujillo States

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Gen. Rafael L. Trujillo Jr., generally considered to be the power in this nation, feels that continuation of sanctions against the Dominican Republic by the Organization of American States would result in a military coup.

Trujillo, who became chief of the armed forces after his father's assassination last May 30, told newsmen Monday he could not "morally impede" a military bid.

"Logical reasons" for a coup, he said, would involve the nation's restoration to the hemisphere family through renewed diplomatic recognition.

$20,000 Bond for Woman Accused of Shooting Husband

WAUKESHA (AP) — The 45-year-old mother of six children was arraigned Monday on a charge of second degree murder in the slaying of her husband, shot to death when he intruded on his wife's tavern talk with another man.

Mrs. Eva Belle Alexander was ordered held under $20,000 bond for a preliminary hearing Sept. 26. She appeared before Municipal Judge Scott Lowrey, who officiated at her marriage in 1950.

The woman's husband, Louis, 57, a plumber died early Monday morning a few minutes after he was admitted to a hospital. He had been struck in the left chest by one of three shots Mrs. Alexander fired from a .38 caliber revolver.

Mrs. Alexander, who was separated from her husband, told Dist. Atty. Roger Murphy she bought the pistol five weeks ago because she was "afraid of her husband."

Mrs. Alexander spent Sunday evening in a tavern, and was talking to a 24-year-old Milwaukee man, the only other patron, when her husband burst in.

Alexander knocked the other man down and turned to his wife as she pulled the revolver from her purse and opened fire.

Coalition Problem

West German President May Gain New Stature in Wake of Elections

BY DAVID M. NICHOL
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

BONN — In West Germany's current political dilemma the constitutional authority of the federal majority of the 49 full members of the Bundestag.

The problem is to form a coalition government in the wake of Sunday's elections which deprived Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of his one-party parliamentary majority on which he has relied for the last four years.

Confers With Leaders
West Germany's basic law assigns to President Heinrich Lübke the right and duty to designate a candidate for the chancellorship when the new Bundestag (parliament) assembles for the first time Oct. 17.

In the normal course of events the president confers informally with the leaders of the parties represented in the Bundestag and then designates the man who appears most likely to command a parliamentary majority. Normally, too, this is the candidate of the largest single party.

The constitution imposes no iron-clad restrictions on the president's choice except that he must be elected without debate by a majority of the 49 full members of the Bundestag.

If the president's candidate fails to win a majority, the members of the Bundestag themselves may propose a candidate or candidates.

The future of Adenauer, West Germany's first and only postwar chancellor, depends on this intricate interplay of forces.

Adenauer, who will be 86 in December, has indicated plainly that he expects again to head the West German government but both within and outside his party there are important elements urging a change. Change now is at least a possibility.

Balance of Power
Adenauer's Christian Democratic party, including its Bavarian wing, will have 243 seats in the new Bundestag, seven short of the necessary majority.

His principal opponents, the Social Democrats, whose leading candidate was Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin, will have 190 seats. Holding the balance of power with 66 seats is the rejuvenated Free Democratic Party, headed by Erich Mende.

Brandt already has said he will urge in his talks with President Lübke that a candidate be designated who could combine all three parties into a "national" government to face the storm that is brewing around Berlin.

Both Adenauer and Mende have said they want no part of such an arrangement but Mende has said the Free Democrats would prefer a coalition headed by Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard.

Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss, who heads the Bavarian wing of the chancellor's party, also has indicated he would prefer a government headed by Erhard.

Strauss' influence was increased in Sunday's vote. The Bundestag will meet Oct. 17.

Katanga Claims Seizure of U.N. Base at Kamina

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Katanga's military forces claimed today they had wrested the big U.N. base at Kamina from its Irish and Swedish defenders after a six-day battle.

The U.N. chief in Katanga, Concor Cruise O'Brien, insisted, however, that the hard-pressed defenders still held the air strip in that vital base 280 miles northwest of Elisabethville.

As O'Brien met with reporters at his headquarters in Elisabethville, capital of secessionist Katanga, a Katanga plane attacked the city. Its bombs fell wide but five permanent members — the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France and China. Then the nomination must be approved by the General Assembly.

The assembly was confronted by a long agenda of 5 items including such cold war issues as Red China's admission, testing nuclear weapons and disarmament. The Berlin crisis also may come up.

A U.N. spokesman in this Congo capital said there was nothing in messages from Kamina to indicate that the garrison had surrendered.

Heavy fighting also was reported in Kabalo, 150 miles west of Albertville, where Katanga forces occupied the airfield.

Russia Moves to Seat Red China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union formally moved today for the seating of Communist China in the United Nations.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko requested that the 99-nation General Assembly place on its agenda a question titled: "Restoration of the lawful rights of the People's Republic of China in the United Nations."

The assembly is expected to give the China question a full airing, after 10 years of postponement. But it is unlikely that the problem will be taken up under the controversial title proposed by the Soviet Union.

Informed quarters said the United States would not oppose a China debate this year, but would seek to refer the question to a study committee which would report back at the 1962 session of the assembly.

Escapee Caught In Night Club

Made Flight in Automobile After Tying Up Owner

CHIPPEWA FALLS (AP)—An escaped inmate of the Central State Hospital for the Criminal Insane, fleeing with a rifle in a stolen car, was captured early today at a night club near here. He surrendered meekly to officers who had spotted the car parked outside.

The escapee, George Larson, 30, of Chippewa Falls, walked away from a lawn mowing detail at the Waupun institution Monday, broke into a house, tied up the owner and fled in the latter's car.

Stolen Car Sighted
Shortly before midnight, Chippewa County Traffic Patrolman Bill McClaire spotted the stolen automobile in a parking lot at Minette's Supper Club on Highway 29, five miles east of Chippewa Falls, a .22 calibre rifle in the back seat. He radioed for help and Sheriff Herman Peterson and Undersheriff Jim Cardinal rushed to the scene.

The three officers entered the night club where Larson had ordered food. They recognized him at once and took him into custody without difficulty. Larson was taken to the Chippewa County jail to await a return to Waupun.

Larson, who was described as dangerous, was sent to the hospital two years ago after a jury found him innocent by reason of insanity on kidnapping charges.

Phones for Help
Hospital superintendent E. F. Schubert said Larson escaped about 1 p.m. About five hours later Ira C. Brietlow, a medical aide at the state prison, telephoned for help.

Brietlow said that when he returned from work to his home, in a wooded area just outside the city limits, Larson was in the house and covered him with a .22 calibre rifle. Larson then bound Brietlow with neckties, took $20 and the keys to Brietlow's 1961 car.

An officer had to be sent to untie Brietlow. He was able to telephone for help because his hands had been tied in front of him. He had hopped to the phone, even though his legs were bound.

Rusk, Adlai Try to Keep U.N. 'Alive'

Little Chance That Soviets Will Work With West, Neutrals to Find Successor to Dag Hammarskjold

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson worked urgently behind the scenes today to keep the United Nations from being paralyzed by the Soviet Union on appointment of a successor to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

Rusk was due to hold his first meeting here with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko this afternoon when the U.N. General Assembly begins its annual session. He wanted to talk with Gromyko about the crisis created by Hammarskjold's death as well as the Berlin crisis, which they have agreed to discuss.

Little Chance

Western diplomats saw little chance the Soviet government would agree to work with Allied and neutral nations in choosing a new secretary-general speedily. Conversations are therefore underway, they reported, to find some means of assembly action to temporarily bypass the veto power which the Soviet Union can use in the Security Council to block any new appointment.

In the view of Rusk and other Western leaders here the situation is little short of desperate. Without an administrative head the secretariat, which is the action arm of the world organization, cannot function effectively much longer. This is particularly true in the strife-torn Congo, where a breakdown of U.N. authority would probably result in civil war in which the great powers might become engaged.

Under the U.N. charter, a new secretary-general must be chosen by the General Assembly upon the recommendation of the Security Council. Like the other big powers, the Soviet Union has a veto in the Security Council. It opposes a single secretary-general. A year ago Premier Khrushchev personally led a fight to replace Hammarskjold with a three-man board.

A few hours after news of Hammarskjold's death reached here Monday Khrushchev's deputy foreign minister, Valerian Zorin, gave clear indication that the policy has not changed. At an informal meeting of the Security Council Zorin objected strenuously to describing Hammarskjold in a public statement on his death as "secretary-general."

Astonished members of the council, including Stevenson, assailed Zorin's stand and he finally modified his objection. But the statement as issued contained a sentence at the end noting the Soviet reservation about any reference to Hammarskjold as secretary-general.

Seek to Pull Episcopalians From Council

Issue May Stir Up Lively Hassle at Church Convention

DETROIT, (AP) — A move to pull the Episcopal Church out of the National Council of Churches developed at the Episcopal General Convention today. It appeared to have only scattered support but the issue may stir up one of the liveliest battles at the church's triennial meeting.

Delegates representing 3½ million Episcopalians across the country, agreed Monday to bring it into the open for debate.

"This issue needs more light and less heat," said a lay delegate at the opening session of the House of Deputies, representative branch of the church's two-chamber governing body.

Political Issues

The council is formed by 33 Protestant denominations with nearly 40 million adherents. Some Episcopalians are disturbed by its pronouncements on controversial political issues.

The diocese of Southwestern Virginia submitted a resolution adopted by Pulaski, Va., Episcopalians calling on the church to resign from the council.

Dorothy Fisher of Grasse Pointe, Mich., a leader in the Episcopal Education and Information Council of Michigan, an unofficial organization, said Episcopal groups in at least a dozen cities support withdrawal.

Less militant, the Long Island, N.Y., diocese urged the convention to ask the council to refrain from taking stands on political, social, economic and theological issues.

Strong Support

Strong support for both the National Council and the World Council of Churches came from the dioceses of New York and Massachusetts.

Controversy also was mounting over a move to unite Episcopalians with other Christian denominations.

Certain to trigger sharp debate is a far-reaching proposal by Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, Presbyterian clergyman, for a merger of his church with the Episcopalians, the Methodists, and the United Church of Christ.

No Users, So Slot Machines Removed

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP)—Twenty slot machines were stripped from the transatlantic liner Queen Mary today—because the passengers weren't interested. The machines had been installed as an experiment. As the liner docked Monday night from New York, a Cunard Line spokesman said: "There was never any great rush for them. But it was necessary to keep them in for about three voyages to judge the reaction of passengers."

Hammarskjold's Death Leaves Non-Communist World Stunned

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death of Dag Hammarskjold in an African plane crash "I have lost an esteemed friend gone to 'the supreme sacrifice,'" U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson said. Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain, who had been in the United Nations in cool to U.N. action to suppress Tshombe's secessionist regime.

From every quarter tributes flooded to the memory of the secretary-general who died in the with courage, singlemindedness and devotion.

The French, hit at what they regard as U.N. interference in Bizerte and Algeria, were shocked. The Foreign Ministry expressed "deepest emotion."

Special Tragedy

India's Prime Minister Nehru, a leader of the nonaligned nations who hold the balance of power in the U.N. General Assembly, called Hammarskjold's death a "special tragedy."

The Belgian government sent a message to the United Nations deploring his death and saying his service to the United Nations had been "the supreme sacrifice."

Sir Roy Welensky, prime minister of the Central African Federation who had assailed the U.N. action in Katanga, called Hammarskjold "an indefatigable worker in the cause of world peace."

Moscow and Peiping broadcast the news of Hammarskjold's death without comment. The Soviet press kept the news off the front page.

In France, the Communist newspaper L'Humanite said Hammarskjold "was the victim of the same people whom he did nothing to prevent from assassinating (former Congolese Premier) Patrice Lumumba last year."

Israel and the United Arab Republic, who had often used his services as mediator in their quarrels, found themselves in rare agreement in expressing a sense of loss.

In Sweden Hammarskjold's native land, King Gustav VI proclaimed today a day of national mourning. Radio Sweden ran several special broadcasts in memory of Hammarskjold.

Medics Hear Opposition to Health Bill

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Modern medical care is expensive, but is worth it and is what Americans want, the Wisconsin Academy of General Practice was told Monday night.

Dr. Edward Annis of Miami, Fla., a spokesman for the medical profession, made the observation as he opposed the King-Anderson health care bill backed by the Kennedy administration.

The American Medical Association, Annis said, opposes the bill because of the government control it would exert on medical care and not just as an attempt "by a pressure group to put something over."

Purpose of Bill

The bill, which proposes medical care as an extension of Social Security, is not an extension of the retirement system, Annis said. "The principal of Social Security," he said, "is to give aging people dollars to buy what they need."

The doctor said that insurance is the solution to most major medical care problems. At a sectional meeting Monday,

Bataan Hero Indicted for Embezzlement

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP)—Sheriff Arthur Wermuth, who won fame as the "one-man army of Bataan" during World War II, was indicted Monday on charges of embezzlement, conversion of public funds and false pretenses.

Wermuth, 48, a Republican, said, "there are definite political overtones to this entire Jefferson County grand jury investigation." He said he wasn't allowed to testify.

Wermuth is charged with illegally obtaining $3,675 in county funds over a two-year period. He posted a $4,000 bond.

Wermuth was credited with killing 100 Japanese soldiers early in World War II. He was captured and spent three years in a Japanese prison.

Addressing the combined houses of Parliament in the 700-year-old Knights' Hall, the Queen said some taxes will be raised and annual defense expenditures for the first time will pass the two billion guilder mark — to 2,061,000 guilders ($72 million) from the present 1,850,000 ($514 million). In 1963 the defense outlay will be 2,336,000 ($593 million) and pay for a record military mobilization.

Bishop Eduardo Boza Masvidal was one of 136 Roman Catholic priests deported Monday by the Fidel Castro government in Cuba. The group sailed aboard the Spanish ship Covadonga. Bishop Masvidal was arrested Sept. 12 after a bloody demonstration in front of his church in Havana.

Give 'Chicken Fat' Back to Chickens

President's Youth Fitness Plan Inspires Willson to Write Song

WASHINGTON (AP)—If President Kennedy's youth fitness experts have their way, the nation's school children will soon be working off "chicken fat" to a tune composed by Meredith Willson, author of "The Music Man."

Until recently, about the most strenuous exercise Willson ever took was blowing the flute. But he has suddenly become a physical fitness fiend and has composed words and music to go with a set of calisthenics.

Back to Chicken

A sample of the ballad: "Touch down ev'ry morning, Not just now and then. Give that chicken fat back to the chicken."

And don't be chicken again. No, don't be chicken again. "Touch down" in the song signifies touching one's toes. As the song progresses the victims also must do push-ups and other exercises. The whole thing lasts 6½ minutes and anybody who can finish without puffing is in good shape.

The government hasn't any money to put the recordings in the nation's schools. But it figures that if some civic group or other angel will come forward with $30,000 the job can be done. Willson isn't charging a nickel for his labors.

It all came about when Bill Whitman, publicity man working gratis for the Physical Fitness Council, approached Willson with the idea that he compose a song. Filled with patriotic zeal, Willson practically had the thing finished before he got back to the office.

Some 'Bugs'

But there were some bugs. For example, the first version called for 40 quick pushups, which might kill anybody except a professional strong man.

So Willson got together with Ted Forbes of the Physical Fitness Council. For a solid 10 hours Willson polished up the music, and lyric, while Forbes did the exercises. At the end Forbes was so beat his hands shook and he couldn't eat dinner.

Willson then took to doing the exercising himself, and is reported to be slimmer than he was.

He and Charles B. (Bud) Wilkinson, University of Oklahoma football coach and President Kennedy's chief adviser on youth fitness, have become fast friends, though they never have met. Willson, while in the throes of creation, kept calling Wilkinson long distance from Los Angeles and playing the opus to him.

St. Januarius' Blood Liquefies

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—Shouts of joy resounded in Naples' Cathedral today when attendants announced that the blood of the city's patron, St. Januarius, had liquefied.

The manifestation, considered a sign of good luck by Neapolitans, was said to have occurred after 20 minutes of prayers by the congregation.

The two vials reputed to hold the blood of the saint—normally dry — were then exhibited and kissed by thousands of the faithful. In the throng were many tourists, who came here for the annual demonstration, held on the feast day of St. Januarius.

Dr. Helen A. Dickie, professor of medicine at the University of Wisconsin, urged the doctors to begin treating TB sensitive patients with available drugs without waiting about two years for the development of the active disease.

U. S., Russia Hold United Nations Fate

Instead of Just Berlin Crisis; World Now Faces Peril in U.N.

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — Instead of just a Berlin crisis, there may be a United Nations crisis.
The United States and Russia hold in their hands the fate of the world organization and therefore just about any hope for peace, remote as that seems.
Called a "Fool"
The fateful question now is whether the two giants can agree on a successor to U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, who was killed Monday in an African plane crash.

At last year's U.N. meeting in New York Premier Khrushchev not only called Hammarskjold a fool but said he had become a Western tool.
The secretary-general is the organization's highest executive officer. He runs it under the direction of the Security Council and the General Assembly.
Khrushchev a year ago demanded that Hammarskjold be replaced by three secretaries-general: one representing the West, one the Soviet bloc, and one the neutrals, with each able to veto what the others wanted.
This would render the United Nations helpless in any crisis and leave it, at best, strictly a debating society. It is questionable the United States would remain a member if three secretaries were appointed.
Three "Aides"
Outside the Soviet bloc Khrushchev got small support. Neutrals tried to suggest a middle ground — that the organization appoint three special assistants to the secretary-general. One would speak for the West, one for the Communist bloc, the other for the neutrals.
Nothing was done on this. Hammarskjold refused to quit. The Soviets were stuck with him, it seemed, until his term would expire in April 1963. His sudden death now gives Khrushchev a fresh chance to tear up the United Nations.
This country and Russia have other pressing problems — like Berlin and disarmament—and it's possible, to avoid an immediate U.N. crisis, they may reach a temporary compromise on a single successor to Hammarskjold.

By letting such an individual serve out the unexpired term, East and West could postpone their U.N. fight for two years. Even mentioning this kind of reasonable, if temporary, settlement comes under the heading of wishful thinking.
Possible Collapse
These next few days will reveal what is on Khrushchev's unpredictable mind.
The very machinery of the United Nations—for choosing a secretary-general—sets the stage for pulling the roof down, if anyone wants to.
First the 11-nation Security Council must recommend the choice for secretary to the 99-nation General Assembly. But the United States and Russia both sit in the Security Council. Both have the power of veto there.
Thus either could keep the other's proposal from getting to the General Assembly. Approval in the General Assembly must be by two-thirds vote.
To get around the dangerous bottleneck in the Security Council, perhaps some effort will be made to get the General Assembly somehow to act on its own to approve a new secretary without waiting for council recommendation.

Dr. Devitt Named State President
MILWAUKEE (AP) — Dr. Joseph S. Devitt, 47, chief of staff at St. Mary's Hospital and a former head of the Milwaukee County Medical Society, was named Sunday as president-elect of the Wisconsin Academy of General Practice.
Devitt will succeed Dr. Albert H. Stahmer, Wausau, who assumed the presidency of the organization at a meeting of the House of Delegates Sunday.
An estimated 500 physicians were expected to register for the academy's two-day annual scientific assembly which began today at the Milwaukee Auditorium.
The delegates, with little discussion, Sunday heard a series of local and national resolutions and reports from 10 standing committees. They also heard brief remarks by Dr. John S. Hirschbock, dean of the Marquette University School of Medicine, and Dr. Edward Annis, Miami, Fla., a nationally known spokesman for the medical profession.
Dr. Annis was listed as the speaker at tonight's banquet session.
In the only controversy Sunday, the physicians defeated an attempt by Dr. Fred Riegel of St. Croix Falls, to study "the feasibility of setting up a general practice creditation system to encompass standards of professional behavior in all branches of medicine in office and hospital practice."

New Overpass on State 57 in DePere Gets State Approval
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — A state highway department plan to establish a new crossing of the tracks of the Milwaukee road by provision of an overpass on relocated Wisconsin State 57 south of De Pere in Brown County has been approved by the state Public Service Commission.
The highway improvement will include the reconstruction of South Broadway street in the city of De Pere and the closing of the railroad crossing on that street.
The utility commission said the highway department and the railroad have an agreement for the financing of the overpass, which will replace a crossing at grade on Broadway.

Trouble in the Congo

The death of Sec. Gen. Dag Hammarskjold, on the eve of the opening of the United Nations General Assembly, is not only a personal tragedy in the loss of a man dedicated to furthering peace and justice around the world. It adds to the crisis in the United Nations at a time when another crisis is serious.

There should be suspicion that Hammarskjold's death was not an accident. Khrushchev has been bitterly angry at the secretary-general since he failed to ruffle him through personal abuse last year or force his resignation in favor of a troika arrangement. Moreover, Khrushchev found little support for the plan in the light of the faith in Hammarskjold around the world. Murder is no crime at all in Communist eyes when it is for the cause.

But whether the plane crash was an act of sabotage or an accident, it means that the United Nations must now face up even more sternly to the threat of Red domination. If Hammarskjold's successor is not as strong, courageous and firm against the evils inherent in Communism, the United Nations will sink even further toward failure to deal with the momentous problems of this century—freedom and world survival.

Hammarskjold was on his way to the increasingly serious situation in the Congo which resulted when U.N. troops attempted to put down the secessionist aims of Katanga's Tshombe. The action was legal under the authority given to the secretary-general to use force if necessary to prevent civil war. But it certainly has not yet kept the peace.

The secession of the rich province of Katanga early indicated the influence of Belgian nationals in the area. During the bloody rioting and the rebellion that erupted when the Congo first received its independence, Katanga was quiet and serene. But in later months it showed increasing reluctance to deal cooperatively with the recognized Congo government. Imprisoned, he promised to behave, and then retracted his statement as soon as he was safe in Katanga. The National Congolese army was heading for Katanga and obvious civil war when the U.N. troops moved.

With promise in Elisabethville of a sound Congolese government after months of almost abysmal stupidity and ineptness, it was up to Tshombe to help. But the drive for personal power was too strong. Apparently he was backed in his secessionist attitude by the Belgians who always had opposed the Congo move toward independence.

In addition, the U.N. must deal with an equally arrogant leader in another section. Gizenga, now appointed vice-premier, is not only a threat to unity in the Congo because of his ties to the murdered Lumumba, he is suspected of being a patsy for the Communists. Gizenga has announced he will come to Elisabethville and take part in governmental organization. But he promised this before. If he doesn't acquiesce, it will be up to the U.N. troops to persuade him and this time their move probably will not be a surprise as it was in Katanga.

Since the eyes of the world in the last few weeks have been on Berlin, Belgrade and the mushroom clouds rising over Russia, the Congo almost has been forgotten. But the success and soundness of U.N. policies in that area are important, not only to prevent further bloodshed and horror, but for the reputation and future of the United Nations. Merely throwing out the remaining Belgians will not ensure unity and peaceful progress. It has not even discouraged the angered Tshombe who is spurring his people to resistance and revolt.

The Congo still has a long way to go to become a nation of law and order. Decisions for the U.N. in the area are difficult and Hammarskjold's death has made a bad situation worse.

The Division of Berlin

Congressman Melvin Laird was quite right in demanding that the State Department withdraw from circulation a pamphlet concerning the conflict over Berlin and "how it got that way. Whether there are deliberate misinterpretations" for a political motive, as Mr. Laird charged, the pamphlet certainly tries to simplify the reasons for the presence of Russian troops in the area.

"The Western armies could have captured Berlin or at least joined in capturing it," reads the pamphlet. "But the Supreme Allied Commander, Gen. Eisenhower, believed that they could be more usefully employed against the major German forces elsewhere. As a result, the Soviets captured Berlin, but when Germany surrendered, the Western armies held much more, and the Soviets much less, than the areas assigned to them by the four-power occupation agreement of September, 1944."

The one statesman who did see the danger of Soviet occupation of Berlin as well as of the later withdrawal of American and British troops before a solid agreement had been made on many problems, was Winston Churchill. He realized by early 1944 that the collapse of Germany would end the one firm tie between Soviet Russia and the Western Allies.

Churchill urged Gen. Eisenhower to reconsider his decision to deploy American and British troops in Germany. Churchill pointed out the political aspects of Berlin which, at the time, he felt to be important to an early end to the fighting. But he also warned of the Soviet thrust into Europe. Eisenhower's decision was a military one and he was not supposed to be particularly concerned with political aspects. As he told President Truman, "I shall not attempt any move which I deem militarily unwise merely to gain political advantage unless I receive specific orders." He would have received such orders from Churchill but no one in high command in the United States had the vision. However, because of the rosy glow most of us felt toward Russia at the time, it is difficult to point to or establish blame.

In the summer of 1945, however, when Russia had "interpreted" some of the Yalta agreements quite contrary to the original aims and when the Soviet had established itself in Austria, in defiance of Allied intentions, our actions about Germany are harder to justify.

Again it was Churchill who was alarmed. He wanted the British and American troops who were occupying much of Eastern Germany and Czechoslovakia, to stay there until the Big Three met again. In a letter to Truman, Churchill wrote "I view with profound misgivings the retreat of the American Army to our line of occupation in the central sector, thus bringing Soviet power into the heart of Western Europe and the descent of an iron curtain between us and everything to the eastward. I hoped that this retreat, if it has to be made, would be accompanied by the settlement of a great many things which would be the true foundation of world peace. Nothing really important has been settled yet, and you and I will have to bear great responsibility for the future."

But President Truman, unacquainted except through documents with much of the negotiations with Stalin, felt that the tripartite agreement of the occupation of Germany, as decided by Roosevelt, Stalin and Churchill the year before, would have to be honored immediately. And it is probable that the majority of Americans, if asked, would have agreed to give the Russians the benefit of the doubt, and who cared what happened to Germany anyway? "This struck a knell in my breast," wrote Churchill.

The major lessons we can learn from the Berlin fiasco are that military and political aspects cannot be kept separate and that men of vision and courage for the problems of this century are few. Churchill was a genius and we didn't have anyone like him over here.

Farm Bureau Doesn't Like Tax Bill Veto

From the Badger Farm Bureau

Well, Gov. Nelson chose to follow the dictates of his party and veto the massive sales tax bill. The important point so far as Farm Bureau is concerned is that he vetoed the bill that would have saved farmers about $12 million in tax money.

After many years of legislative debate and then passage of 7075, many people agreed that one of the most unjust taxes is the personal property tax upon farmers' livestock and merchants' inventories. Furthermore, many legislators agreed that an across-the-board property tax cut was in order. Their agreement is evident by their vote on 7075.

The sales tax would have raised $68 million to replace revenue now raised by means of the personal property tax on farm livestock and business and manufacturers' inventories.

It would also have raised $47 million to be used to replace the revenue now raised by means of real property taxes. Tax relief to the tune of $105 million would have been provided by both the personal property tax repeal and the across-the-board general property tax cut.

Doing away with the personal property tax would have saved farmers about $16 million in livestock taxes.

Two days before the veto message was delivered, the Wisconsin department of taxation came forth with some "slanted" tax figures concerning the impact of the sales tax upon farmers. The department claimed that in reality farmers would end up paying $820,000 more in taxes if a sales tax were law.

For a long time now, the Farm Bureau has figured farmers' savings at $12 million.

The main reason for the large difference between these two figures is that the department compared its farm sales tax figure to farm population and not to farm income. This was done even after they were reminded last year by the Farm Bureau that they, themselves, had forgotten to consider farmers as consumers as well as businessmen. At that time, it was agreed that the payment of taxes is more sensitive to incomes than to population.

But enough of that for now. The governor in his veto message paved the way for compromise. We know the road to tax revision is a rocky road to travel. It will be interesting to see what happens in the months ahead.

What Good an Atomic Defense For a Nation of Undisciplined

From Philadelphia Inquirer

At a time when the United States of America is forced, against its will and better inclinations, to resume restricted testing of nuclear weapons because the loathsome menace to all free men has started up again, it should not be necessary to spell out the necessity for Americans to stand up and be counted.

This is the hour, perhaps the most dangerous we have ever faced.

Although President Kennedy must make the all-important decisions in the agonizing loneliness and responsibility of office, the decisions to test, when, how and where to test, involve us all and are made in our behalf.

The least, then, that the American people owe to their Chief Executive in this hour of peril is to close ranks and uphold his hand as he deals with the Communist-created problem that leaves us "no other choice."

It is all the more nauseating, therefore, to read of brazen, useless, destructive rioting in various parts of the country by members of the very generation — our teenagers, young adults — for whose future the desperate "cold war" now is being waged.

From Lake George, N.Y., from Indianapolis, from Ocean City, Md., from Wildwood, N.J., even from Hyannis, Mass., very near the President's own "Summer White House," the stories have a deadly similarity — drunkenness and stuporous defiance of both decency and authority.

It would be unfair and considerably less than half the truth to let the matter rest with that, however. Presumably, these young people have parents. What kind of job have they done? What are their own attitudes? Are they complacent, "fat, dumb and happy," enjoying the fruits of 165 years of American effort with no feeling of responsibility for its perpetuation? They raised these children and the reflections they see are their own. The constantly rising juvenile delinquency rate might be taken as another index in the same light.

To be sure — and thank God for it — the drunken rioters and the young criminals are by no means the only members of our younger generation and, probably, not even representative of it.

Progress Threatens Charm of Glass of Beer

From Wichita Evening Eagle

This is a restless and uneasy world, as any diplomat will tell you, and nobody seems to be trying to make things any easier.

Take the beer industry. If anyone has a mandate to keep things restful, it is the brewer. The craft is by nature dedicated to soothing the world's cares, and has a vested interest in doing so. But the plague of progress has infected even the brewing trade. Among recent unsettling developments:

A Briton has invented a dispensing system to eliminate all waste in serving draft beer. He claims that more than $50-million worth of lager goes down the drain each year in the United States; but it is obvious he has a computer for a heart.

The skillful performance of the bartender is an indispensable part of the charm of a tavern, as he draws the beer, paddles off the foam, and refills the glass to the brim. The performance reassures the customer he is getting his money's worth. This British plumber would replace all that with a no-waste, sanitized, high-pressure machine and remove even this shred of romance.

But the real abomination is the recent invention of instant beer. By the usual quick-freezing process, these progressives take perfectly good beer, remove three-fourths of the water, and ship the powdered remains off for sale. It shouldn't happen to home brew. The buyer adds water, and the product is reputedly as good as new.

Anyone who knows the mystic requirements of brewing will know this is nonsense. Produce good beer by adding our chlorinated, fluorinated, filtered, dewatered, all-American tap water? It is impossible.

If the Germans or the Danes do not declare war on us for defiling their national drink, we are surely under the protection of an uncritical Providence.

Looking Backward

Post Office Squabble Continues

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Sept. 14, 1861.

The Republicans of Appleton, to a very considerable extent, are signing a petition asking the Post Office Department at Washington to make no change in the Post Office here. Or, in other words, to retain John Elliott.

We don't anticipate any good results from it, however much we admire their honesty in making this move. If Mr. Harriman had been appointed agreeably to the Republican caucus last spring, the majority of the party, aside from some of the leaders, would have been satisfied. As it is, they see their wishes are entirely ignored by Congressman Sloan and Co., and they are, of course, mad about it.

25 YEARS AGO

High government financial quarters disclosed that the budget estimates for the 1936 fiscal year probably will call for national defense expenditures topping the billion dollar mark.

With determined vanguards stretching out toward Madrid, Spain's fascist commander-in-chief, Gen. Francisco Franco, was reported to have pledged 25,000 more men.

Miss Fay Cohen, Appleton, was named president of the Appleton High School student council.

Democratic Party Fight a Stalemate

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Surely one of the most inexplicable incidents in current Wisconsin politics is the cannibalistic exhibition currently being offered in the struggle for the chairmanship of the state Democratic Party.

Nothing quite like the effort of Gov. Nelson and his friends to purge Chairman Patrick J. Lucey of the state Democratic committee has been recorded in state politics in modern times. It is not unusual to have differences and even a coolness between party leader and state executive, as the history of the Republican administrations starting in 1939 showed. But the Republicans never permitted their differences to degenerate into a public display.

There are two important questions about this fight that is bound to become more bitter and debilitating before it is climaxed at the delegate election of the Democratic state convention in Eau Claire next month. First, how did it come about? Second, how will it turn out?

HOW?

Gov. Nelson is an easy-going fellow. There are some of his friendly critics who have said that his congeniality and easy tolerance is one of his defects as a practical politician.

However that may be, it suggests that the provocation for opposing Lucey must have been a powerful one. The public explanation that Lucey was too heavily involved in national politics, and especially the presidential campaign last fall, can be dismissed for the pragmatic deception that it is. State chairmen were concentrating on the presidential election in every state, and Claude Jasper in Wisconsin was working as heavily for the Republican national ticket as Lucey was for the Democratic national ticket last fall.

The obvious explanation is that Nelson and Lucey had not been getting along, and the chances are that their personal difficulties antedated by a considerable period the public parting of the ways.

When it turned out that Lucey had some other critics and declared enemies and that some of them were key allies of the governor, as well as close friends, he was persuaded to take the risk of trying to unhorse him.

How will it come out? A judicious guess is that the end cannot yet be forecast. Lucey is the first state party leader in many decades who has a personal and close relationship with the White House. President Kennedy probably owes him and his circle more than any other political group in the country, for without the Wisconsin delegate victory last April he could not have proceeded to capture the party nationally, and without Lucey's daring — at the least — and possibly reckless decision to back him he could not have built the Wisconsin machine he needed.

It is difficult to envision the Wisconsin party, basking in a national victory, destroying President Kennedy's closest Wisconsin friend.

Yet, Gov. Nelson knew all that, and knew that it would take a powerful effort to achieve Lucey's replacement. He also is perfectly aware, as a veteran of the political wars, that if he loses this campaign — now that he has begun it — he will look ridiculous. The party may be ruined in the process, in any event, but now that the die has been cast Nelson knows that the result will be far more costly in personal terms if he loses the fight than if Lucey wins it and they are forced to maintain their pretense of cordiality for two more years.

A governor — any governor, in any party, at any time — has powerful resources for such a fight if he wants to use them to the utmost. Chances are that if he does, he can defeat Lucey. But the melancholy prospect also faces him that he will mortally weaken the party, for Lucey is prepared to go the distance also.

Romans May Have Lesson For America

From The Burlington (Vt.) Free Press

In his monumental work, "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," Edward Gibbon listed these five reasons for that fall:

(1) The rapid increase of divorce; the undermining of the dignity and sanctity of home, which is the basis of human society.

(2) Higher and higher taxes and the spending of public money for free bread and circuses for the populace.

(3) The mad craze for pleasure, sports, becoming every year more exciting and more brutal.

(4) The building of gigantic armaments when the real enemy was within, the decadence of the people.

(5) The decay of religion; faith fading into mere form, losing touch with life, and becoming impotent to guide the people.

Gibbon's work covers the period of Roman history from A.D. 180 to A.D. 1453. He completed the original six-volume history in 1788. Does his work have lessons for us in 1951?

Hammar skjold Was Best Friend Congo Ever Had

Secretary-General Took Snubs, Insults From Congolese Leaders

BY LYNN HEINZERLING

BERLIN (AP) — The Congo has lost the best friend it ever had.

When U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammar skjold died in a plane crash in Northern Rhodesia he was on a mission he first undertook in July 1960 — to safeguard the unity, territorial integrity and viability of a new and confused republic.

Hammar skjold took snubs, insults and vilification from the immature, helpless and self-seeking political leaders of the Congo. He did not move an inch from what he considered was his mandate from the United Nations.

Premier Patrice Lumumba and other Congolese leaders from the first assailed the Secretary General whenever they felt their own personal progress was being impeded.

No Help For Dag
Not one of them contributed as much toward making the tottering, backward jungle land a stable political state as Hammar skjold. And he was far from completing his task in the Congo when he met his death.

Lumumba was most vociferous in denouncing Hammar skjold in the wild and dangerous days of 1960 until he found it necessary to seek U.N. protection. Jacques Lumumba, like Lumumba now dead, called the Secretary General an imperialist. He was a secretary of state in Lumumba's cabinet.

Moise Tshombe, the Katanga leader now fighting the United Nations, opposed Hammar skjold from the beginning. Tshombe has been determined from the birth of the republic to keep his copper-rich province independent.

Antoine Gizenga, the left-leaning Lumumba deputy who tried to set up a government in Stanleyville after Lumumba's death, questioned Hammar skjold's motives and denounced his policies.

U.N. Mistreated
Gen. Victor Lundula, once commander of the Congolese army, turned his back on Hammar skjold and permitted his troops to mistreat and beat up U.N. personnel.

Some members of the present government were publicly on record as opposing Hammar skjold. Even President Joseph Kasavubu opposed him at times.

The Congolese mind somehow could not grasp the fact that this white man's motives were of the highest, that his great desire for the Congo was peace, political maturity and prosperity.

Fortunately for the Congo, Dr. Sture Linner, another Swede and direct approach, unswerving devotion to the mission and sympathetic attitude, remains in Leopoldville to direct the United Nations operation.

The Congo, with more than a year of history, does not even have a legally adopted constitution. Only an outside organization of impeccable motives could hope to bring order out of the chaos which followed independence. And in the present world that could only be the United Nations.

Ironical Trip
It was ironical that at his death Hammar skjold was flying to a meeting with Tshombe which could have resulted only in failure. Hammar skjold never could have accepted Tshombe's views of Katanga's future in cease-fire discussions to halt the fighting between Katanga and U.N. forces.

From the beginning of the U.N. operation in the Congo, the international body's policy has been to treat Katanga as a province of the Congo. Without Katanga, the Congo does not make sense as an economic unit since the province should provide more than half of the central government's revenue.

Without Katanga, the rest of the Congo almost inevitably would drift back into its tribal boundaries, a largely subsistence economy and its ancient feuds.

Hammar skjold's directives in the Congo were clear. The United Nations moved in to safeguard the unity and territorial integrity of the entire Congo. U.N. troops were on a peaceful mission to assist the progress of the new state. And they were empowered to prevent civil war, by force if necessary as a final resort.

Hammar skjold made four long and wearing trips to the Congo in a little more than a year. He first arrived on July 27, 1960, soon after Congolese troops went berserk, fired their white officers and terrorized a large section of the white population.

Even then, one of Hammar skjold's primary concerns was the recalcitrant Katanga province. He announced early in August that he was sending troops into Elisabethville, capital of Katanga. He sent his special representative, Dr. Ralph Bunche, to Elisabethville on Aug. 4 and troops were to follow two days later.

Bunche reported that he had found hostility in Elisabethville and the arrival of United Nations troops would be "opposed with force." Hammar skjold canceled the troops and called the Security Council into session. He flew back to New York.

The security council backed up Hammar skjold and decided that U.N. forces in Katanga were necessary for the full implementation of the United Nations mandate. Hammar skjold cabled Tshombe he was arriving in Elisabethville and would bring troops with him.

"Highest Courtesy"
Tshombe replied that Hammar skjold would be received with the "highest courtesy." While approaching Elisabethville in his plane on Aug. 12 with his staff officers, however, Hammar skjold received a message from the ground saying he was welcome, but not the troops.

Hammar skjold landed and the troops followed him in. There was no trouble, but the troops were confined to the airport for some time by Katanga's hostility.

Hammar skjold visited Leopoldville by way of consultations in South Africa.

It was Moise Tshombe and the difficulties over Katanga which brought Hammar skjold back to the Congo for the fourth and last time.

Teachers of Latin, Greek Left Out of Language Benefits

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — Teachers of Latin and Greek lost their togas in congress's rush for adjournment.

The classic professors were hoping to be cut in on the foreign language benefits of the newly extended National Defense Education act.

The law now limits benefits to teachers of modern languages, but a friendly congressman, Rep. Herman Toll (D., Pa.) had promised to try to strike out the word "modern."

"It isn't a very great change—it won't visibly alter the course of world events," said Toll, "but a furthering of classical studies in this country can have a tremendous prestige value abroad."

Toll's amendment got lost in the end-of-session logjam.

10 places where homes can waste heat and money. Shell Heating Oil specialists tell you how to avoid this waste and cut winter heat bills.

HOW TO CUT HEAT BILLS:

Shell suggests 10 ways to save on heat bills this winter —and tells how new Shell Heating Oil can help you do it Right now is the time to start saving on this winter's heat bills. Here are 10 tips from Shell Heating Oil specialists to help you reduce heat loss this year.

SHELL RECENTLY completed a revealing survey of oil heated homes. It disclosed that the average home was wasting fuel needlessly—oil burners were operating at less than 75 per cent efficiency.

Starting with your oil burner and moving around the house, here are some tips to help you save on heat bills.

1. Tune up your oil burner. Your burner, like your car, needs periodic attention. To save fuel, you should have your burner cleaned and adjusted regularly. A professional should do the work for you. The cost is nominal and you can save quite a bit in fuel bills.

Your Shell Heating Oil dealer can do the job himself—or recommend someone who can.

2. Use a clean-burning oil. All heating oils are available. There are significant differences which can affect your fuel bills. One of the most dramatic differences is Hydro-desulphurization—a Shell-patented refining process applied to Shell Heating Oil. Don't let the name scare you. The process is highly complex, but the result is simple. It makes new Shell Heating Oil remarkably clean. Reason—most of the sulphur and other deposit-forming impurities have been removed. These impurities are literally pushed out by the hydrogen. New Shell Heating Oil burns with a hot, radiant flame like the one on the right, below.

New Shell Heating Oil, in an efficient oil burner, can lead to significant fuel savings. Check with your Shell Heating Oil dealer.

3. Check the location of your thermostat. Your thermostat should be located in a place that insures that no room of your house is underheated and none is overheated. There is no hard-and-fast rule about where to install a thermostat. But there are certain places that a thermostat should never be:

- On an outer wall. Cold can seep through the wall from outside and fool your thermostat. This may cause your burner to work overtime.

- In a bathroom, kitchen or hallway. The temperature in these areas is subject to rapid change.

- Near TV, lamps, chimney or other sources of heat.

- In the direct line of sunshine.

- At the foot of a stairway. Air circulation up stairwells makes this location cooler than other areas of the house.

NOTE. Your thermostat shouldn't be less than three feet from the floor, or more than five feet above it.

4. Set your thermostat for savings as well as heat. Proper regulation of your thermostat is one of the key ways to get the most usable heat from your fuel dollar. Here are three points to keep in mind:

a. Turn your thermostat down at night. If you will set your thermostat back 10 degrees when you go to bed, you can save up to 10% a year in fuel costs. And you may sleep better too.

b. When you go away for 24 hours or more, reduce your thermostat setting. Shell heating specialists recommend an "empty house" temperature of 55 degrees. That's high enough to keep the chill off, but low enough to save you a good deal of money.

c. Keep your "at home" temperature around 70 degrees. Indoor temperature is a matter of personal preference. But most people like to keep their homes at about 70 degrees. But if you must raise your thermostat just 5 degrees—from 70 to 75, for example—it will raise your annual heat cost by about 12%.

5. Give your burner air. Consider this surprising fact: it takes about 1400 cubic feet of air at sea level to burn 1 gallon of heating oil. Be sure your burner gets the right amount of air. Proper adjustment of the oil burner for correct air-oil mixture will save you money.

NOTE. Your Shell Heating Oil Dealer can make sure that the air intake on your burner is properly adjusted. And that no superfluous air leaks into your furnace.

Needle-eye openings in burner nozzle calls for a heating oil that is immaculately clean.

6. Close off unused rooms. Don't spend good money to heat rooms that nobody uses—or that are used once in a while. Shut off the radiator or register. And keep the door closed when the room is not in use.

7. Keep furniture away from radiators, hot air registers and cold air return ducts. Don't block off heat with furniture. Or put furniture where it can interfere with air circulation. It can damage the furniture—as well as obstruct the flow of warm air. Leave enough space between furniture, radiators and air ducts for the warm air to circulate easily about the room.

8. A little weather stripping can bring big savings. Even well-fitted windows benefit from weather stripping. On a poorly fitted window, weather stripping can reduce air infiltration as much as 78 per cent. Note: ask your Shell Heating Oil dealer about adding insulation to your home. The cost runs higher than weather stripping, but insulation pays for itself in reduced fuel costs.

9. Stop tiny heat leaks. Before winter's first blast hits your home, check such things as attic ventilators. Make sure they're closed tight.

When fireplaces are not in use, close the dampers. You can lose a lot of heat right up the chimney.

These measures sound small, but they can pay off in substantial savings.

10. Guard against tank rust. As the oil flows from your storage tank to your burner, air is drawn into the tank. This air has moisture in it which can condense on the cool metal walls of the tank. Rust is likely to be the unhappy result.

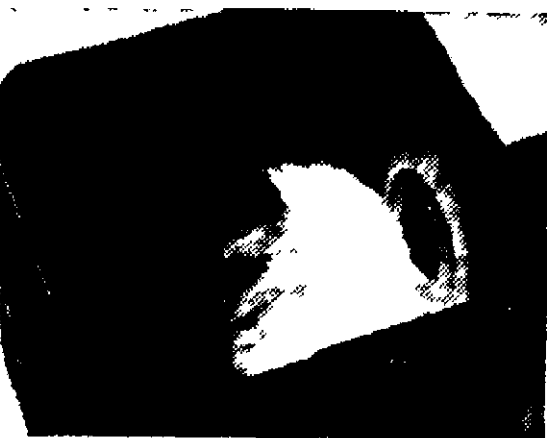

Shell's Sonitor® fights this problem. Proved effective in over 1,000,000 homes, a single application of Sonitor helps guard your tank against rust up to 3 years.

Follow these proved tips and you can look forward to top heating performance at lower cost this winter. And be sure to ask about new Shell Heating Oil. It's made for trouble-free warmth all winter long. Your Shell Heating Oil dealer can deliver your first tankful at your convenience. Why not call him today and take advantage of the offer on the opposite page.

*U.S. Patent No. 2608522

Old-fashioned heating oil may form deposits that can choke the nozzle openings of the burner, producing an unbalanced flame. Heat bills can run high.

Remarkable cleanliness of new Shell Heating Oil helps guard against clogging. The oil swirls through openings, burns with an even, cone-shaped flame.

Welfare Department Engages In Greater Service Roles

Actual Result of This Work May Be Doubtful, Director Declares

BY BONNIE BARSTOW
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

In addition to paying out public funds to the needy, city and county welfare departments are engaged in an increasing amount of service work, designed in part to reduce the amount of money that has to be doled out.

The actual result of much of this work is doubtful. Alfred R. Eggert, Outagamie County welfare director, says that preventive and rehabilitative work sical conditions of child or parent were among reasons for asking welfare department service.

The first interview with a client is one of the most important phases of welfare work, Eggert says. The intake worker, a trained social worker, listens to the client, watches for symptoms of problems and tries to get the person to be himself.

Kicked Him Out

For example, a woman may first tell the intake worker that her no-good husband ran off and left her. Later she admits she kicked him out so her other boy-friends could spend more time with her.

The object, Eggert explains, is to get the client to understand his own wrongs and the needs of financial assistance. There were that caused them and to learn how to control or quiet these needs. This is done through conversation.

The county welfare department has a staff of 17 — the director, 10 other social workers and six clerical workers. Plans are to add one more social worker, but a scarcity exists in the field.

The six social workers serve 626 financial assistance cases and 139 service cases to take care of — a total of more than 100 cases each, in addition to necessary reports, paper work and investigation.

The welfare workers provide counseling in marriage, home management, child care and citizenship.

The newest project is a home management institute, at which homemakers may learn economy and purchasing. It will include movies and tours to stores, with managers telling how to spot good buys. Miss Jeanette Fenske, county home agent, will help with the program. The first meeting is set for Sept. 21.

Not Overwhelming

Eggert doesn't expect response to the institute to be overwhelming. Many people who need help don't realize they do, he explained. The department conducted a marriage institute about six years ago and is considering holding another some time soon, Eggert said.

Correction of physical deformities sometimes help people get back on the right track. For example, a few years ago a boy was brought before County Judge Stanley Staidl for stealing. The boy's face had been disfigured by a childhood accident. He was sent to University Hospitals for plastic surgery and hasn't been in trouble since.

Another function of the welfare department is the rehabilitation of handicapped people so they can earn their own livings. This involves medical, orthopedic, neurological, psychological, vocational and social adjustment services.

"The newly organized sheltered workshop has opened the door to a fuller life for many of these people," the county welfare department reported soon after the workshop opened. "Here they are kept busy, earn money, make new friends and get a whole new slant on living."

Private Agencies Work

Appleton Welfare Department hasn't any functions involving exclusively casework, but offers counseling to people receiving general relief payments. Merton Ehrlicke, director, does all the casework as well as administration. He has a secretary and a bookkeeper.

A number of private agencies offer services similar to the public welfare departments. Some offer only certain types of counseling and rehabilitation. These include Alcoholics Anonymous, Apleton Apostolate, Children's Service Society of Wisconsin, community guidance centers, Lutheran Welfare Society of Wisconsin, Fox Valley Mental Health Association, Salvation Army, Fox with public welfare agencies in Valley Sheltered Workshop, Visitation Nurse Association and other organizations.

Schools, churches, service organizations and some other government agencies also work along these lines.

United Community Services, which a number of private welfare agencies belong, cooperates with public welfare agencies in an effort to avoid overlapping

Police Plan Inquiry Into Fatal Crash

Accident in Brown County Killed Man, Injured Four Others

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Brown County authorities questioned an elderly Green Bay woman later Monday in an attempt to learn the cause of a two-car collision Sunday afternoon that killed one person and injured five others, including a nun.

Arthur Hannon, 67, New Franken, route 1, was one of four persons killed in Wisconsin highway accidents Sunday, raising the state's 1961 death toll to 613, compared with 582 on this date one year ago.

Hannon was killed almost instantly about 2:45 p.m. when his car and a car driven by Emma Povencher, 68, of 1320 Deth St. collided at the intersection of County Trunks T and K in the Town of Green Bay.

Injured in the crash was Hannon's 65-year old wife Ann, who suffered rib fractures and head bruises. Three passengers were hospitalized. They are: Mary Buehlholz, 71 and Alice Huegel, both of 2600 Liberal St. and Sister David, a Roman Catholic nun from the Mc Cormick Home in Allouez.

All were reported in either fair or good condition at St. Vincent Hospital Monday.

Hannon's 1961 Ford was traveling east on County Trunk K, according to police, while the Povencher auto was moving south on County Trunk T. Hannon's car was shoved 77 feet into a field by the impact.

Bishop, 135 Priests Deported by Castro

HAVANA (AP) — In a blow to Roman Catholic Church influence in Cuba, the government Sunday deported Bishop Eduardo Boza Masvidal and 135 priests aboard the Spanish ship Covadonga.

A crowd of several hundred cheered and applauded the bishop as he arrived at the dock in a police car. He was arrested last week after a bloody anti-Soviet demonstration by Catholics in front of his church in downtown Havana.

Among those deported were 60 priests born in Spain. The deportations left about 50 priests in Havana where there are 60 Catholic churches.

Churches Affected By Merger of Lutheran Bodies

Five churches in the Fox Cities will be affected by a merger of four Lutheran bodies in North America.

They are Trinity and Our Saviour's, Appleton; St. Mark and St. Paul, Neenah; and St. Timothy, Menasha. An agreement of Church in America effective as consolidation was signed in Minneapolis last week, clearing the way for the four Lutheran Church bodies to unite next year in the new church which holds its constitution largest merger in the history of tuting convention next June in American Lutheranism.

Presidents and secretaries of the four church bodies — the United Lutheran Church in America, the Augustana Lutheran Church, the American Evangelical Lutheran Church and the Finnish Evangelical Lutheran Church — signed the merger agreement which will bring to an end their separate entities on June 1, 1962. In their place will emerge the new 3,200,000 member Lutheran Church in America effective as consolidation was signed in Minneapolis last week, clearing the way for the four Lutheran Church bodies to unite next year in the new church which holds its constitution largest merger in the history of tuting convention next June in American Lutheranism.

FREE:

to all Shell Heating Oil customers—anti-rust treatment for storage tanks

WHEN you receive your first delivery of new Shell Heating Oil, your storage tank will be given a free Shell Sonitor anti-rust treatment.

One application of this Shell-developed product guards your tank against rust up to three years under normal conditions.

All Shell Heating Oil customers receive this service. In fact, Sonitor has been proved in over 1,000,000 homes. Your Shell Heating Oil Supplier will perform this important service for you—periodically—at no extra cost.

Four reasons why housewives prefer Shell Certified Service—and why more and more oil-heated homes are switching to Shell.

1. "Easy Pay" Budget Plan. Divides your oil costs into equal monthly payments. Relieves strain on your pocket-book during the coldest months. No interest charges.

2. Automatic refills. Your Shell Heating Oil Supplier keeps track of your oil supply for you—refills your tank automatically when you run low. You don't have to order—ever.

3. Metered receipts. A meter registers the exact amount of oil delivered to your tank. You receive a stamped record for your file.

4. Courteous, careful drivers. They treat your property with the respect it deserves.

"WHAT YOU CAN DO FOR YOUR COUNTRY..."

At this time of year we observe and participate in a splendid voluntary effort. In your community and others across the land, millions of our friends and neighbors are supporting the United Fund and Community Chest campaigns. These United Way campaigns exemplify the American talent for teamwork. Every campaign challenges the community's civic pride, generosity and capacity for hard work. ■ This annual Fall drive is also the means to an important end—the planning and financing of balanced programs, services and facilities that promote good health and good citizenship through the year. Voluntary health and welfare organizations in your community are thus enabled to guide youth, fight disease, mend broken homes, provide recreation, help the elderly, the lonely, the ailing. The United Way benefits the greatest number of people. ■ I am certain that you want to help your community—and our country—grow stronger, safer and happier. I urge you, then, to give generously to your United Way campaign.

Recreational Plan Begins to Move

Nelson, Committee Open Sessions On $50 Million Program Priorities

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Gov. Nelson's prospectively huge new program of Wisconsin recreational lands acquisition and development started into motion here Monday as the state executive and an advisory committee held their first session for a discussion of priorities and methods under the effort planned to cost $50 million during the next decade.

The committee authorized the state department of public welfare to spend $500,000 to set up two conservation youth work camps at Interstate park in St. Croix County and in the Rhineland area, and heard conservation department representatives say they have $3 million worth of recreational land acquisition projects "ready to go."

L. P. Voigt, conservation director, was told to sift some 63,000 acres of prospective land purchases for priority ranking which will be reviewed by the committee at another meeting to be held soon.

For Capital Purposes
Gov. Nelson, who persuaded an otherwise cool Republican legislature to enact the $5 million annual emergency recreation expansion plan several months ago, pointedly told department heads that he wants most of the new money spent for capital purposes, even if development and maintenance must be neglected for a while.

The important thing is to be prepared for the population explosion and to anticipate inflationary increases in the price of lands, water frontage, scenic easements and other natural resources, he emphasized.

In a formal statement read to the meeting, Nelson also called it a "land-mark in Wisconsin history" because it proves that Wisconsin has taken the lead among the states in preserving "its vast but endangered outdoor resources." He said more than 20 other states have asked about the new program since it was authorized.

Four Youths From Appleton, Kaukauna Serve Aboard Ships

There were hints that in spite of the governor's anxiety, execution of the program will be relatively slow. Voigt remarked that his department's average of elapsed time in land acquisition is about 244 days. A highway department representative sharply contrasted that figure with what he says is his agency's experience.

Which came first, Gordon's or the Martini?

When Alexander Gordon introduced his gin to London in 1769, the martini had not yet been invented. So when the martini finally did arrive—around 1850—it had ready access to Gordon's remarkable dryness and flavour, and the martini's success was thus assured. Tonight, when you ask for a Gordon's martini, you'll be glad to know the gin harks back to Alexander Gordon's original formula. Why should we tamper with a good thing, especially when it's the world's biggest seller.

U. S. Political Temper Vague

Each Party Thinks It Has Made Some Gains in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's political temper has members of Congress guessing as they prepare to wind up their legislative work and go back to check up with the home folks.

Those who listen to party leaders could decide that the Democrats—or the Republicans—have achieved significant gains in the first session under President Kennedy.

Democratic Chairman John M. Bailey is out with the claim that "vigorous, constructive and progressive leadership from the White House and in Congress has indeed put America on the move again."

Republican Chairman William E. Miller has downgraded Congress' accomplishments.

House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana has predicted that with "the spenders back in office" a $90-billion budget is on its way and inflation will be the order of the day.

The truth seems to be that neither Democrats nor Republicans can gauge at this time just what the country's reaction is to the record of a Congress that has given Kennedy some victories and some upsetting defeats.

It put on the law books some measures, the Democrats think will help them in next year's campaign. These include a minimum wage increase, improved Social Security benefits, housing and depressed areas legislation.

The Republicans think they have a big political thing going in the rise in civilian spending which—added to higher defense outlays—threatens to bring about a $8-billion deficit next June 30.

"Color Advertising did the TRICK!"

APPLETON, WIS.

Mr. Glenn H. Arthur
Appleton Post-Crescent
Appleton, Wisconsin

Dear Mr. Arthur:

As you well know, the first quarter of 1961 was a slow one for many businesses. The tire business was no exception. At Matthews Tire Company I was faced with the situation that, in a declining market for tires nationally, I desired to find some way to turn the tide and, at the same time, celebrate our 10th anniversary.

Color advertising did the trick.

It took some hard selling on the part of your advertising salesman and your man in copy service but the research that they came up with convinced me. To this end I want to thank you and your salesmen.

Our May 10th color ad, alone pushed retail sales up 10%. Our color ads of June, July and August have increased sales each month. And remember, this is still against the trend.

Thanks for helping to make our Anniversary year a sales success.

Cordially,
Fred Matthews

Mr. and Mrs. Ted O'Keefe, Appleton, paused in the doorway as they arrived at Butte des Morts Golf Club's formal dance Saturday evening. Below, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lutz, Oshkosh, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Trettin, Appleton, conversed during the lull between dinner and dance festivities.

Members of the Committee planning the formal dinner and dance at Butte des Morts Golf Club take time out to enjoy the evening's festivities. From left are Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Nehs, Raymond LeVee, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Frawley, Mrs. LeVee, chairman, and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Schultz. At left, the crowning of a king and queen took place during the evening. Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Shepherd, Appleton, who have served as social chairmen for the club for 25 years, were the happy recipients of this honor.

Couple's Club Plans Party

School 'Daze' will be the theme of the Couple's Club of First English Lutheran Church costume party at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the church fellowship hall. Mr. and Mrs. John L. Belling are chairmen of the event.

Keep Sponge for Quick Clean-Up

Fast little baby fingers often dip into the dish at feeding time—or go poking into a miniature mouth full of food. One efficient young mother suggests keeping a soapy sponge handy for quick wipe-ups—of both the young eater and food splashes.

Paul Bloch Weds Darlene Reynebeau

The Rev. Martin H. Vosbeck officiated at the double ring ceremony and nuptial high mass at 9 a.m. Saturday at St. John Catholic Church, Little Chute, uniting Miss Darlene Reynebeau and Paul Bloch.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reynebeau, 305 E. Main St., Little Chute, and Mr. and Mrs. John Bloch, 310 Wisconsin Ave., Kaukauna.

Mrs. Thomas Vosters, Little Chute, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Miss Mary Bloch, sister of the bridegroom, Kaukauna, Miss Bonnie Reynebeau, sister of the bride, and Miss Carol Vanden Heuvel were bridesmaids.

Best man was Wesley Romanesko, Kaukauna, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and groomsmen were Paul Biese, Appleton, Bill

Ironstone Tureens Now Modernized

Period pieces with a practical modern twist are the classic white ironstone tureens which now come electrified with detachable units to keep food piping hot while serving. With the plug and cord removed, such a tureen can be immersed in hot suds like any "plain" dish.

The Rev. M. A. Simonsen will address the group in the evening. He recently returned from touring Europe where he visited several EUB churches. In the afternoon he will be in charge of a study on methods.

Mrs. Nick Zylstra, president of Women's Society of World Service, is in charge of the institute.

Reasonable Chance OK For Game

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD
"Are we headed for inflation?" a reader asks. "We used to make game with 26 points or even less. Now even 37 points are not enough. Here's the sort of thing I mean:
"West opened a club. I won with the jack of clubs and lost a diamond finesse to the king. Back came a club, and West let me win the trick.
"I tried another diamond finesse, losing to the jack. Back came another club, and West ran his suit. Down one.
"This sort of thing makes cynics of us all. If we can't trust our bridge column, what is this world coming to?"

No Apologies
We offer no apologies. There is usually a reasonable play for game when the combined count is 26 points. This doesn't mean that you will always fulfill the game contract—merely that you make the game often enough.

Most experts are willing to bid a game that depends on a finesse. If they make the game half the time and go down one trick the other half, they are content.

Work it out for yourself. If both sides are vulnerable, the player who bids game on a finesse will score 600 points half the time and will lose 100 points the other half. His average score for the hand is 250 points. That's more than he can get if he bids all such hands to a conservative partnership contract.

The exact figures vary with the vulnerability, but the principle is the same. Don't worry about going down at some of your game contracts. You are better off in the long run if you take a chance on game when you have a reasonable play for the contract.

DAILY QUESTION
Partner opens with 1 NT, and the next player passes. You hold: S, 5, 3, 2; H, 6, 5; D, 7, 6, 2; C, A, 10, 6, 4, 2. What do you say?
Answer. Pass. There's no reason to run out of a no trump contract when you have a balanced hand of this sort.

The Ailing House Exhaust Fan Stops Paint Peeling

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN BASEMENT PAINT PEELS

Q: We have a finished basement, with a plywood paneling ceiling. We partitioned off the area used for laundry and find the paint peeling off the ceiling near the washing machine, although we have no trouble in the rest of the basement. What do you recommend?

A: Probably your washer is not vented to the outdoors as it should be, resulting in excessive moisture in this area. Installing an exhaust fan to draw off excess moisture would help greatly.

WOODPECKERS ATTACK TOOL SHED

Q: I built a small wood slab tool shed not far from the house. I find woodpeckers have been boring holes into the siding. How can they be kept away? How to repair holes?

A: Insects in the siding may be attracting the birds. Vacuum the siding carefully and thoroughly; then spray with a preparation available at many large garden supplies, housewares dealers and mail order houses, for discouraging birds from roosting. Does no harm to the birds, but is unpleasant to their feet; properly applied, an application is good for about a year.

To repair the holes, patch with plastic wood, stained to match rest of wood surface, then touch up with two coats spar varnish.

PLASTER BREAKING AWAY Q: The plaster above the bathtub is gradually breaking away. If we put patching plaster on, will it fall off again? What do you suggest? We hope to tile it eventually.

A: The joint between the tub and the wall is probably not absolutely watertight, allowing water seepage to affect the plaster. Fill the joint with special caulking material, available paint and hardware dealers; be sure to get a waterproof type. After the plaster above the tub has thoroughly dried, apply the patching plaster, if desired. However, the sooner you get at the tiling job, the better.

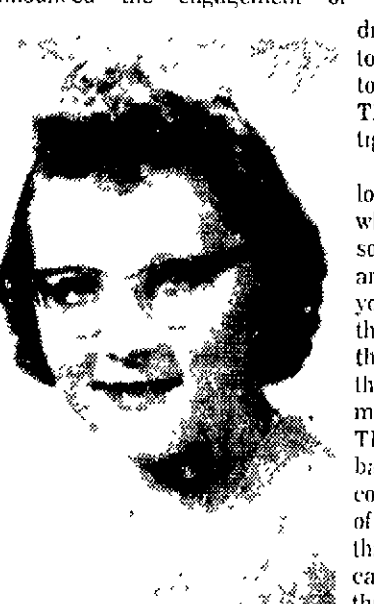

LIGHT FINISH FOR BIRCH

Q: What can I use on cabinets made of birch plywood to keep them as light in color as possible? I would like a washable finish.

A: A special water-clear satin finish for plywood is available at most paint and plywood dealers; no sealer is required and the finish can be brushed or sprayed on. Be sure to follow manufacturer's instructions on the label for application. Water and alcohol resistant.

SEAMS TO ME Stitching Troubles

By Patricia Scott

Many stitching problems occur its case and has unthreaded it or holding it back. SOLUTION: telephone to call your repair man. But the chances are that you can take care of most of them yourself. To solve these problems, however, you must first know the cause.

Here are some very common ones — what causes the problems, and the solutions for them.

PROBLEM No. 1. When you start stitching, the machine makes a loud clucking noise. The stitching on the underside of the fabric is full of looped, matted threads. CAUSE: a) you either bobbin thread, or, b) bobbin tension is too loose. SOLUTION: a) rethread bobbin turning it so that the thread unwinds in proper direction; b) tighten bobbin tension hear from her readers, and when slightly.

PROBLEM No. 4. Thread breaks at needle. CAUSE: a) of the great volume of mail re-needle may be threaded from wrong side, or, b) when inserting individual letters needle into machine, you may have turned it in the wrong direction. SOLUTION: a) rethread needle properly. If you're not sure, check your machine instruction booklet, or, b) turn needle around so that the long groove is turned toward the side from which you thread the needle.

PROBLEM No. 5. The needle breaks or bends. CAUSE: a) the point has hit the presser foot or the metal around the needle hole. b) you have pulled the threads at the end of a row without first passing them under the presser foot and then toward the back. Either a or b will cause the needle to bend out of line. Therefore, when it is lowered it may hit the metal and break or bend. SOLUTION: Stitch over pins only with a flexible presser foot and place pins across the seam with head of pin well out of the way of the presser foot. Also, be sure to pass the thread as described above in b.

PROBLEM No. 6: Stitches are uneven in size. CAUSE: as you sew, you are pulling the fabric or holding it back. SOLUTION: Let fabric slide under presser foot easily and just guide it lightly. If you let the machine control the stitch length, the stitches will be even.

Miss Scott is always glad to answer questions from her readers, and when ever possible will use their questions in her column, but because of the great volume of mail received daily, she cannot answer every possible individual letter.

Beauty's Fabric

Of all fabrics, beautiful hair is really the most precious, but too often too little is made of it. It gets chopped up and off for reasons of fashion, comfort or sheer laziness.

Not so this season. Hair is being cut and styled with the respect that is given to the most elegant chiffon and brocade. In fact those fabrics have inspired the new hair styles.

Balanced to complement each individual, the overall silhouette is a long oval that is wonderfully flattering to the face and figure. The crown is lifted and woven into an airy chiffon effect. Lying close to the head, the sides and back are texture-waved in the manner of brocade.

The total look is "head-conscious," in the same way that fashions are body conscious. And that means groomed yet not stiff, distinctive but not stuffy—the epitome of 1961 beauty ideals.

What about upkeep? This external problem is solved by a professional shaping, one that expertly blends the closely fitted length at the nape to the full berries

A careful, graduated permanent is a second requirement. Thereafter, nothing more than the usual grooming procedures are needed to maintain the coif and its adornment of the hair.

Soap Game for Rainy Day Fun

To keep kiddies amused on a rainy day, try the "scooting soap" game. Place a tiny bit of soap—smaller than a pin head—in a dish of water and watch it "skate" around.

The soap moves because it reduces the water's surface tension; as it acts in one spot, the tension pulls it along to "work" elsewhere. This soapy game has particular appeal for budding young scientists.

Our Children

Mother Must Force Child to Independence

BY ANGELO PATRI

Maybelle has trouble breaking away from her mother and going toward other children, as she would rush back to rescue him should be doing now at four once more and home they would go. The only thing to do in such instances is to leave the child

She always says she wants to go to Sunday School nursery class, yes, she wants to go to dancing class and she wants to go to the party. She gets all ready and starts; but as she nears the place, she begins to shrink, turn pale and shake. Now she clings to her mother and says, "Don't leave me."

The only way I found to deal with a child like this is to take her, or him, to the classroom, leave him there and go away, making sure that he cannot get out of that room until dismissal time. He may cry for a time, but the other children will take him into the group, dry his tears and help him join in their activity.

Give Him Time

Now and then one weeps the whole period through, yells at first, then subsides into soft sobbing. He refuses any help, any suggestion from another child. Next day he cries but not so long. The day after that he looks across to see what the little girl over there is doing. She promptly takes him over and that is the end of the matter.

When a mother insisted upon staying with the child, he clung to her. Often we had more trouble with the mother than with the child. She could not bear to leave her child while he screamed for her to come to his rescue. She could not believe that he was not in agony. He was unhappy to be sure, but the only way to help him was to prove to him that there was nothing in that classroom, nothing to expect from anybody in it, but a good time among happy children.

Experience taught us another fact. Once the child succeeded in getting his mother to take him home we could not keep him again that term. We would have to wait until the next term six months away before trying again.

No Force Used

Today's Etiquette
BY LOUISE DAVIS

OFF TO BAD START

My son will be married in November. His fiancée's mother has informed me that she will select the dress and hat that I'm to wear at the wedding. I may be paying for something that I don't like, want or need. What can I do about it? Is this considered proper wedding etiquette?

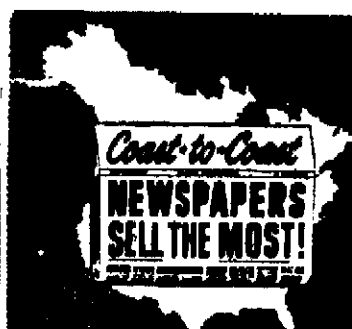

Davis

Louise Davis Answers:

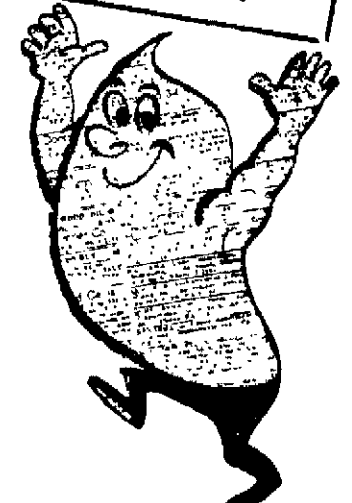

No. The bride's mother has no right to choose your dress and is going entirely too far. I suggest that you get in touch with her using tact and diplomatic finesse. Inasmuch as she has already committed herself by making such a statement, you could tell her that you wish to get an outfit that is becoming in style yet which would blend nicely with her dress. Tell her you plan to windowshop to get a general idea of the current fashion. Tell her that you will naturally confer with her before you purchase anything, but in the meantime would she be good enough to give you a description of her own dress and hat which would give you some idea what to look for. To avoid such a repetition for other future mothers of bridegrooms it would be an excellent idea at the time of the engagement to inform the young man's mother to say, "I hope you will keep your own dress selection so that I can look for something that would go nicely in color, style for only 14 persons — six Swedish civilian crew members and eight U.N. personnel — were listed by the U.N. office in Leopoldville yesterday as aboard.

A U.N. check today disclosed there were 16. Two Swedish guards — Sgt. Stig Hjelte, 21, and Pvt. Per Evald Persson, 20 — had been omitted from the list. Lt. Col. Ben Matlick, U.S. air attache from Leopoldville, who inspected the wreck today, said he was convinced that speculation about the plane may have been here.

There's absolutely nothing in it," he said.

The possibility of sabotage or armed attack had drawn banner headlines in Rhodesian newspapers. The lone survivor, Harry Julien, an American U.N. security guard, was quoted as saying a series of explosions shook the four-engine DC6B before it plunged into a forest reserve north of town and burned.

However, seasoned pilots who viewed the fire-blackened wreckage agreed with Matlick. They said it looked like typical results high as 200 m.p.h., as she was over the weekend, the storm is still a huge and dangerous one. The storm has slowed slightly from 16 to 14 m.p.h.

No Major Changes

The Georgia and Florida coasts were clear of the storm, but all interests from Savannah, Ga., northward were told to listen for future advisories.

Forecaster Gilbert Clark said indications were the storm would continue on its present path for the next few hours with no important changes in size or direction.

Persons in the path of the storm already were taking precautions. The Navy sent 240 airplanes to inland fields and a number of ships left Norfolk, Va., as precautionary measures.

The aircraft carriers Randolph, Wasp and Valley Forge put to sea and other naval vessels headed for anchorage in Chesapeake Bay to escape the fury of the winds. Two Texas towers off the New England coast were evacuated. The towers are radar stations that form part of the U.S.-Canadian defense warning system.

The towers are on shoals 80 to 100 miles offshore. A spokesman for the air defense sector said he did not know how many men were evacuated. A similar tower off the New Jersey coast collapsed during a storm last January with a loss of 28 lives.

If the storm should strike the North Carolina coast, as its present path indicated, it would follow such destructive giants as Hurricane Hazel which moved in over eastern North Carolina in 1954 and caused $750-million damage.

Army Makes Rush Order for More Troop Carriers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army put in a rush order Monday for armored troop-carrying vehicles to meet its urgent requirements, presumably in Germany.

The Army declined to say how many additional vehicles were being ordered.

Tourists Can Bring in Fewer Duty-Free Goods

NEW YORK (AP) — It was ironic that Brian Thompson of Pittsburgh should be one of the first Americans affected by the new customs regulations, designed to cut American spending abroad.

Instead of $500, the rules now say, you may bring in only $100 worth of foreign-purchased goods free of duty — and that amount only once in 31 days. Also, you must be gone at least 48 hours to qualify for any duty-free imports.

JFK Decision Gets Applause

Party Leaders Praise Kennedy for Plans To Address U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic and Republican congressional leaders applauded today President Kennedy's decision to address the United Nations.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Senate Democratic leader, predicted Kennedy will place before the United Nations a new disarmament plan and call for fresh negotiations to end nuclear testing.

Kennedy's decision to fly to New York to address the new session of the U.N. General Assembly was announced Monday by the White House.

Friday Possible

Kennedy probably will speak Friday or Monday, depending on the schedule adopted by the assembly.

A White House official said the death of U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold strengthened the President's desire to appear before the United Nations.

Kennedy believes, the spokesman said, that "now, at a time of crisis for the U.N., would be a good time to go there and affirm support of the U.N. and its principles."

Kennedy expressed Monday the hope that U.N. members will "try to build the U.N. into the effective instrument for peace which was Dag Hammarskjold's great ambition."

Resolution Passed

The Senate and House passed a resolution expressing deep regret over Hammarskjold's death in a plane crash.

Humphrey said he thinks it is vital in the light of Hammarskjold's death for Kennedy to rally the West's forces.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in a separate interview he thinks Kennedy will be able to "invigorate the thinking" of U.N. members and "give them assurances of the steadfastness and firmness with which we stand behind the world organization."

Kaukauna Man Arrested in Brown County

Captured After High-Speed Chase Along Town Road

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — A rural Kaukauna man was arrested by Brown County police early today after his car rolled over during a high-speed chase.

Dewey Metoxen, 23, route 1, Kaukauna, suffered a minor hand injury about 2 a.m. today when his car went out of control and crashed on a Lawrence town road just south of its intersection with County Trunk EE.

Metoxen was being chased by County Patrolman Reuben Lassee at speeds in excess of 70 miles an hour on the gravel road, Lassee said.

Sent to Field
Lassee had been sent to Austin Straubel Field after a caretaker saw someone entering a car in the airport parking lot. The person fled when the caretaker approached, but the man spotted the license number of the fleeing car.

Lassee, on his way to the airport, saw the car going in the opposite direction. He turned around and gave chase. The fleeing car spun out of control a short time later and rolled over into a ditch.

Into Custody
Lassee pulled up to the wrecked car and took Metoxen into custody. This morning Metoxen signed a statement admitting the theft of a book of gasoline trading stamps from the glove compartment of a car at the airport. He also admitted taking some gasoline from a farm tractor near Nichols in Shawano County about a month and a half ago. Authorities planned to give him a lie detector test later today.

City Ambulance Struck by Truck

NEENAH — The Neenah ambulance was damaged on the left front fender when a coal truck driven by George Van Laarhoven, 45, route 7, Green Bay, backed into it at the corner of Congress Street and Washington Avenue at 11:30 a.m. Monday. Raymond D. Meverden, 26, 303 Hewitt St., was driving the ambulance. The two vehicles were headed north on Congress Street and the coal truck was planning to turn left onto Washington Avenue. The truck was backing up when it struck the ambulance fender. Meverden said the truck had stopped for a while so he proceeded to go around it when the truck started to back up.

Two Youths Sentenced in Morals Cases

OSHKOSH — Two youths were sentenced to two concurrent terms of six months each in the Winnebago County jail Monday afternoon by Municipal Judge Arnold J. Kane after they pleaded guilty to two charges of fornication.

Duane L. Kempf, 19, route 2, Fremont, and Anthony A. Kutz, 18, route 2, Neenah, originally were charged with raping a 19-year-old Little Chute girl Sept. 3. The charge was reduced at the preliminary hearing. The offenses took place in Kempf's car early Sept. 3 at a farm where Kutz was staying on Winnebago County Trunk QQ in the town of Menasha.

Many Stores Will Add Monday Night

Majority of Appleton Merchants Want More Late Shopping Hours

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — A majority of individual store owners at a general meeting of Appleton merchants at the Con-way Hotel this morning.

The minority voting against the additional night opening probably will not be open Monday.

65 Attend
Sixty-five Appleton merchants accepted the invitation of the Chamber of Commerce to hear and air their reaction to a study by its store hours committee on night openings. "The meeting was well attended and well received," said Giles Flanagan, chamber assistant secretary. "There was a good deal of interest in the Monday night opening."

A proposal to delay the 9 a.m. Monday opening until noon received divided support. Some stores will probably not open for business until noon.

"The combined Monday and Friday openings seem to be a coming trend," Flanagan said. More stores will probably open on Monday night as more shoppers flow downtown then.

Mild on Thursday
Interest in a Thursday night store opening, rather than the one Friday night, was mild. Merchants were prone to wait until after an opening on Thursday night had been tested during the Christmas schedule that starts Nov. 24. From then until Christmas, stores will be open Monday, Thursday and Friday nights.

The chamber arranged the meeting for this morning after interest in a Monday night opening became urgent. The stepped up move was prompted by the coming of a Sunday newspaper to the Fox Cities and a recent change of night openings in Green Bay to Monday and Thursday.

Elm Tree Says Drivers All Get Same Benefits

Personnel Head Tells NLRB Hearing Probation, Tests Identical

Mrs. Marion Silliman, personnel director at Elm Tree Bakes, Appleton, testified this morning there are numerous basic similarities between long-haul and vanette truck drivers, which makes them part of the same sales operation.

The firm is contending that the long-haul drivers by themselves do not form a proper collective bargaining unit. A proper unit should include the vanette men, loading dock workers and some garage men, company officials have testified.

Mrs. Silliman testified during the ninth day of a National Labor Relations Board hearing on a complaint of unfair labor practices against the firm. The complaint is based on charges 11:30 a.m. Monday. Raymond D. Meverden, 26, 303 Hewitt St., was driving the ambulance. The two vehicles were headed north on Congress Street and the coal truck was planning to turn left onto Washington Avenue.

Similarities Told
She said drivers of both types of trucks received the same fringe benefits, have the same 30-day probationary period, share the cost of uniforms 50-50 with the company and participate in the same company sponsored events, such as the annual picnic and children's Christmas party. She said they all play on the same company bowling, baseball and basketball teams.

Drivers of both types of trucks were given the same written examinations, she said, and were

Appleton Man Hurt in Crash of Auto at U. S. 10, 41 Crossing

An Appleton man was injured at 10 a.m. today in a two-car crash at U. S. 41 and 10. Ernest P. Retzlaff, 34, 289 Gardner St., was taken to Appleton Memorial hospital where he was treated and released.

trained to be driver salesmen, not just truckers.

Several discharged drivers said that long-haul men were drivers only and not required to do sales work.

One of the 15 drivers, who has returned to work, said he thought sales work was part of his job.

Mrs. Silliman said the firm offered the discharged drivers reinstatement in July. She suggested it for economic reasons, she said. "It costs a lot of money to hire new men and to train them," she testified.

Letter Mailed
She said the letters were mailed on July 11, 17, 22 and 27, based on seniority rights.

B. A. Pfefferle, president of the firm, said full reinstatement meant getting all back pay and fringe benefits, but did not know if the men had been told this.

Two more witnesses are scheduled to appear for the company this afternoon, to conclude the firm's side of the case. How many rebuttal witnesses there will be has not been said.

It is expected the hearing may end late today, or sometime Wednesday.

40 Days in Jail For Man Admitting Disorderly Conduct

Arnold Hopfensperger, 37, 506 1/2 N. Superior St., was sentenced to 40 days in Outagamie County jail Friday by Municipal Judge Gustave Keller. Hopfensperger pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct.

He was arrested at his home Wednesday night by Appleton police after a family disturbance. Police brought him to the station after he used obscene language and slammed the apartment door on a policeman's arm, the report indicated. When they were released, Hopfensperger again used obscene language and was charged with disorderly conduct, police said.

Judge Keller issued a warning that anyone who uses obscene or abusive language toward policemen will be subject to an added penalty.

Students Told College Place For Learning

Lawrence President Tells Pupils What To Expect in School

Post-Crescent News Service

"I hope that each of you finds here at least one person, one insight, one conviction so compelling that you are forced to break your heart over it," President Douglas M. Knight told students of Lawrence College at matriculation day exercises in Memorial Chapel.

"The idea is as old as Eden," he went on. "Until you learn to give yourself, you will never find yourself; and in that giving you must, time and again, break your heart in hoping, dreaming, working for the things which utterly transcend you."

"You will be dwarfed by such encounters, you will be appalled by your own ineffectualities; but you will come to exist. You will be a true person, not just a conventional or prefabricated one," President Knight continued.

"I would say that while the educated man is usually learned in some field, the learned man is not always educated. He can be the mere prisoner of his knowledge, agile within a narrow room but unable to walk beyond it," he defined.

Man in Motion
The truly educated man, the president said, is a man in motion. He moves to become something he is not—not to exist, but to grow.

College has no monopoly on the creative life, Dr. Knight observed, but it is one major center in our society which focuses on the kinds of learning that develop creativity.

"Sometimes a pet idea will turn out to be a flower-pot though you hoped it would be a Grecian urn, but even that gloomy discovery is part of the creative encouragement of college," he said.

Dr. Knight described three cardinal sins against the values which colleges try to teach:

Three Sins
"The first is the blight of indifference, which is often only another name for timidity, for the fear of being wrong. Just as often it is idleness of spirit, a reluctance to get seriously involved in ideas, actions, emotions that call for real commitment."

"The second hazard is one that I am tempted to call Senior Syndrome—the smugness of feeling that you really know the answers. If you think you have the answers you have simply forgotten how to be ignorant; and this is nearly as bad as forgetting how to laugh."

"The third hazard... is the curse of fear, the most paralyzing and corrupting of all human attitudes. It forces us to define the universe in negatives—to establish direction by what we run from, and loyalty by what we hate. To do this is to read the world backward. This is the worst evil, the worst threat of our time; it is the denial of man and the denial of God as well," he concluded.

that anyone who uses obscene or abusive language toward policemen will be subject to an added penalty.

Forest Lab Funds Asked

Proxmire Asks Senate To Reinstate Funds For Madison Building

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., has urged reinstatement of a $300,000 appropriation for a proposed addition to the forest products laboratory at Madison, Wis.

The Senate earlier this year, in approving funds for the Agriculture Department, included the funds for the laboratory, but the House declined to do so. The funds were eliminated from President Kennedy's budget by a Senate-House conference committee.

In a prepared statement Monday, Proxmire asked the Senate Appropriations Committee to include the funds in the final supplemental appropriations bill.

Proxmire said that land for the addition has been acquired from the University of Wisconsin, with the house in which he was boarded the approval of the legislature, and added:

"Failure now to provide the money to pay for architectural about 7 p.m. Friday after Gmeiner and other pre-construction planning will prevent the orderly expansion on the basis of which, he returned by removing a basement screen and crawling through a window."

His landlady, who is his mother, had called police at 5:59 a.m. Friday when he was found asleep on the basement floor of the University of Wisconsin, with the house in which he was boarded the approval of the legislature, and added:

Travelers to be Grounded As U. S. Faces Air Attack

SAC to Assault NORAD Oct. 14 In All Out Test of Defenses

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — On Saturday, Oct. 14, all civilian planes in the United States will stay on the ground. The airlines will stop. Their 125,000 passengers can wait or travel by train or bus.

No private planes will fly. The airmail will come to a halt for 12 hours.

This interruption will last from 11 a.m. (CST) until 11 p.m. (CST). During those hours SAC will attack NORAD. This means that planes of the U.S. Strategic Air Command and some from the federal air traffic control system will invade the United States and Canada. Planes of the North American Air Defense Command will attempt to fend them off.

Missile, Plane Response
The incoming planes will bring alerts from the early warning systems of radar detection which stretch across northern Canada from the navy picket ships in the Arctic and Bering Seas, a patrol planes which regularly fly off the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

The warnings will draw responses from the BOMARC missile systems designed to intercept hostile planes, and will send U.S. and Canadian fighters and interceptors high into the skies from scores of military fields in Maine, Ontario, Michigan, Texas, Florida and other places.

They will call to duty the crews of anti-aircraft Nike batteries and other industrial centers such as military bases and factories. Instead the SAC planes will come in from all sides in such a way as to engage every part of the North American Air Defense system. No unit will be left out because "the war" went somewhere else.

250,000 Men
The exercise will engage an estimated 250,000 men. Many of their "flights" will take place 14,000 feet up, and people in cities won't be able to see or hear them. But there will be battles for control of Detroit, and Florida, and California, etc., which would mean life or death to people on the ground if they were day the lives and well-being of for real.

That is the way things would be in fact if war should break out, and the purpose of exercise Sky Shield II, as military men call it, will be to find out how well our defense from air attack would work in a crisis.

This is not going to be a "war game" with an attacking side and defending side such as military men "play" to perfect tactical skills. Instead the SAC planes will come in from all sides in such a way as to engage every part of the North American Air Defense system. No unit will be left out because "the war" went somewhere else.

The defense of the North American continent (Canada is in this, too) will be directed from NORAD headquarters near Colorado Springs, Colo. Attacks will be supervised from SAC headquarters near Omaha.

Official Word Coming From Pentagon; Newspaper Busy With Information Calls

"So they are going to go, huh?"

This was the excited reply and question voiced by many Fox Cities area residents this morning when they received the news of the alert for active duty of Wisconsin's 32nd National Guard Division.

The word got out early this morning and by 10:30 a.m. press services had bulletin stories to every news source. Telephones began ringing. The Post-Crescent switch board was busy with calls from individuals and industry wondering who is going, when and where.

Men affected turned a bit pale at the news, smiled sheepishly and nervously went back to their work.

"Well, we'll be seeing you," those not affected by the order said to the guard members. "This is no time for joking," the eyes of the alerted soldier flashed in reply.

One teen-age guard member talked of the wedding in which he was to be an attendant. That will be forgotten. Other arrangements will have to be made.

Little Information

There are some who had planned to get married—these plans, too, may be changed.

Most military personnel at armories and reserve and guard headquarters in the Fox Cities knew little. All they have heard so far is what radio announcers convention.

Al Charapata, county chairman as well as Sixth District chairman, today said that both candidates regard the Fox River Valley as being a crucial target for the election.

Voting at the state convention will be by individual delegates rather than by counties.

Post-Crescent reporters throughout the Fox Cities area began to hear word of barbershops that might close because the entire staff was affected by the order.

Another city will lose its police sergeant.

There is little to say. Families temporarily will give up their fathers, girls will be whispering goodbye to their boyfriends and industry and business will seek employees to fill the vacancies left by the men who answer the call.

300 in Appleton
About 300 Appleton National Guard members in two companies, Headquarters and First Battle Group, Combat Support, 127th Infantry, are affected by the alert.

Guard officials said they can make no estimates or give out any information. They have received no orders.

When the order is received, an alert date will be set. From the alert date on, members of the unit will be at their armory each day taking physicals, training and getting personnel records up to date. From the alert date, 30 days usually elapses until the unit is shipped to its duty post.

Guard officials stressed members going on duty will not be going to Berlin. Units will report to U.S. posts and receive training. They probably will remain in the U.S. as replacements for units previously sent to Berlin.

In 1940 the Appleton unit was alerted Sept. 15. It reported for duty Oct. 15.

Offer Arguments for Joint Or Unified School District

More Democratic, Former Alderman Tells PTA Group

NEENAH — Unified school districts are more democratic by giving the public more control and ending split governmental responsibilities, Paul Hansen, former Neenah alderman, said Monday. Hansen argued in defense of the unified district for Neenah and rural schools in the Neenah area before the Wilson School PTA.

The present system, Hansen declared, encourages buck-passing because of the split responsibility of a school board making up a budget, the council okaying it. Both blame the other for any inadequacies or tax increases, he added.

Elected at Large

The school board would be elected at large by the entire district and would be responsible to the district. Hansen felt this might lead to more rigid controls on the board and its budget policies. He added he thought the board was quite cognizant of this responsibility and just because it would have fiscal independence under the unified plan does not mean it will spend liberally.

As for the rebonding of the entire school district to pay the city and rural school bonds now owed, Hansen said some estimates indicate the extra cost might amount to 50 cents on each $100 of school taxes.

"It is also possible we might break even or make a little money if the interest rate for the new bond issue was less than that now paid. Bonding firms are concerned not as much with the debt limitation but the vitality of the district," Hansen continued.

A unified district also would tend to clarify the cost relationships between the schools and the other public needs and the public would become more knowledgeable about the school expenditures, he told the PTA.

Must Have Referendum

What the people want in education, they will be able to get, he contended. Any school construction or floating of bonds must first receive approval at a district referendum.

Ownership of the school buildings in the city and rural area would be under the school board Department in the unified plan while under the joint plan the city of Neenah would own all the buildings.

Reopening of Neenah Street Set Sept. 28

Simple Ceremonies to Accompany Opening Of South Commercial

NEENAH — A simple, ribbon-cutting ceremony will signal the reopening of S Commercial Street at 11 a. m. Thursday, Sept. 28, Mayor Chester S. Bell announced Monday.

The general contractor will complete work on the rebuilt thoroughfare by Wednesday, Sept. 27, the mayor said. The S Commercial Street celebration on the street, before it is reopened to traffic, plans for this event were made at a meeting Monday night.

To be invited to the ribbon-cutting ceremony are representatives of the State Highway Commission, the Bureau of Public Roads, the State Highway Engineer's office, Leon Morrissey, county highway commissioner, Joseph F. Drexler, chairman of the Winnebago County Board, J. Kornder, chairman of the County Highway Committee, representatives of the principal contractors and of Courtney-Plummer Co.

Invitations will also be extended to Congressman William Van Pelt, Fond du Lac, Assemblyman David O. Martin, Neenah, and State Sen. William A. Draheim, Neenah, as well as members of the Neenah City Council.

A luncheon at Valley Inn will follow the ceremony.

"This is a big improvement, and it shouldn't go unnoticed," Mayor Bell said in announcing plans for the event. "We expect a minimum of speech-making."

Work on the reconstruction project officially began May 1, according to a timetable worked out at a conference held under the leadership of the State Highway Department.

Cost of the project was shared by the city, county, state and federal governments.

City Would Pass Bonding Limit, Clifford Warns

NEENAH — A unified school district for Neenah will mean no more bonding to meet vital city needs — such as ending flooded basements, William H. Clifford told the Wilson PTA Monday night. He defending the joint school system plan for joining the city and rural schools.

The city will be limited to bonding for not more than 5 per cent of its assessed valuation, which would be $1,993,000, he said. This is less than what the city is now bonded for other than school purposes.

Under the joint school district plan the city can bond up to 8 per cent of its equalized value of $8,700,000. School bonds for Neenah now are $2½ million and the bonds for other purposes come to $2.1 million.

The joint plan thus would leave Neenah about $3 million more that it could raise by bonding while the unified plan would give nothing. "In fact, we have already bonded for more than we would be allowed," Clifford stressed.

Sewage Plant Need

Clifford, who is Neenah-Menasha sewerage commission chairman, added that two cities must add secondary treatment facilities to the sewage disposal plant and a Neenah's share of this cost could run about $750,000. He added that the commission has asked for federal aid of about $500,000, "but we haven't gotten an answer back yet."

"Where will that money come from, if the unified system for schools is put into effect?" he asked.

Neenah, he contended, will be come a third rate credit under the unified school plan Clifford also held that the unified school district would receive bonds at a higher interest rate than what the city now has.

Orderly Board Transition

As for the argument that the school board now must have the council approve its budget and under a unified system, the board would be fiscally independent, Clifford said this is like having the department of defense setting its own budget since it is the biggest part of the budget. The defense department would not have to come to Congress for its money under that idea.

"What Am I Bid?" asks Phil Ryner, far right, Larsen, as he conducts the "giant auction" sponsored Wednesday night in downtown Neenah by the Civic Beautification Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. Directly to Ryner's right is Earl Pantton, assistant chairman of the auction committee. Purpose of the auction was to raise funds to pay for additional Washington Hawthorne trees for Wisconsin Avenue.

Everything, Including Kitchen Sink, Sold During Benefit Auction

NEENAH — "I don't know what it is, folks, but we're going to sell it!"

To the audience, shivering a bit in the 63-degree temperature of the early Wisconsin autumn, "it" looked rather like an egg cooker.

"Do I hear 50 cents?" The staccato tones of the auctioneer rang out across the crisp air. "Do I hear 50 cents? Yes, sir! Do I hear 75...?"

And the egg cooker (if such it was) went into the hands of an eager purchaser. At the same time another 75 cents was added to the Civic Beautification Committee's fund to purchase Washington Hawthorne trees for the remaining blocks of Wisconsin Avenue.

Runs Long

From 6:30 p.m. until nearly midnight Monday, veteran auctioneer Philip Ryner, of Larsen, stood on a truck loaned for the occasion by the Wheeler Transportation Co., hawking new and used items donated by public-spirited business places and individuals. Meanwhile, a crowd of several hundred persons — students, married couples, mothers with babies in their arms — waited, watched and bought.

Among the objects passing under the auctioneer's gavel were green plants ("Who'll give me how much on one of them?"); an almost-antique sofa ("Some of you older folks will lay down and reminisce when you see this!"; cotton blankets ("You want it for $3, lady?"), and an electric fry pan ("Dollar and a half to that man back there — come and get it!").

"Wonder Boxes" Items too small to be auctioned off separately were gathered together and offered as "wonder boxes", which contained virtually everything except the president.

Cyclist Hurt in Crash With Car

NEENASHA — Mark Lesperance, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. David N. Lesperance 748 Broad St., received minor injuries Saturday afternoon when his bicycle was struck by an auto at Konemac's near the Street and Plank Road.

Driver of the car was Clarence Krueger, 47, 218 E. Murray Ave., Appleton, who told police companies.

Mark received outpatient treatment at Theda Clark Memorial Hospital for right leg face and mouth bruises and cuts.

Hoffa Issues Warning to Other Unions

Teamster Boss Says That He May Raid AFL-CIO

Chicago Daily News Service

CHICAGO — James R. Hoffa warned here today that if the AFL-CIO charters a rival teamsters' organization, his union will "raid" AFL-CIO unions.

Hoffa, 48, controversial president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, the nation's largest union, added in an interview.

"If the AFL-CIO wants that kind of war, we'll give it to them," Hoffa was referring to the "welcome" and encouragement given by George Meany, AFL-CIO president, to James Lukens, Cincinnati Teamster leader, who led 4,000 Teamsters out of Hoffa's union last month.

Expel Teamsters Meany has said that the Teamsters, expelled from the merged labor federation in 1937 on corruption charges, would not be admitted so long as Hoffa is their president.

Several top AFL-CIO officials are urging the federation to issue charters to local unions that quit the Teamsters.

Hoffa said that many AFL-CIO central labor bodies and building trade organizations have taken in Teamster locals as affiliates across the country.

Hoffa is presiding over meetings here this week of the Central States Drivers' Council on grievance cases involving the Teamsters Union and trucking companies.

Hoffa said bitterly that he no longer would grant interviews or hold news conferences because of the attacks of newspapers and editors on him.

Fox Cities CAP to Demonstrate Search, Rescue Operations

Program to be Part of First Annual Air Fair at Fox Point Shopping Center

NEENAH — Simulated search-and-rescue activities will be demonstrated this week by the Fox Cities Composite Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol (CAP).

It will be part of the first annual Air Fair at Fox Point Shopping Center, which also will include helicopter rides and radio-controlled model airplane flight demonstrations. It will run from Thursday to Saturday.

Operating its mobile radio unit as the base station and four other portable units as search parties, the CAP group Saturday will locate someone lost in the Fox Point Shopping Center area. Leads will be given the operations office and the ground search directed.

First Lt. Wilbur Hack, squadron commander, said a CAP search operation normally would be by air and ground, but that for the show, only ground operations would be carried on. "People standing near the radio will be able to see and hear how a search is made," Hack will open the Air Fair at 7 p. m. Thursday.

Civil Defense The squadron, through the Wisconsin Wing, is connected with state Civil Defense organizations for communications and messenger work. The local squadron has a complete stationary radio setup in the home of Maj. Earl Wooden, 2116 N. Oneida St., Appleton, communications officer. The radio set in his home, left on to receive CAP messages from most of the Midwest area, serves as state communication center.

The squadron helps police and sheriff's departments when air search is needed for missing boats and planes. When the unit begins a search, it needs clearance from higher headquarters to make sure insurance coverage is in effect. On official missions, the only federal money involved is for gasoline and oil used in airplanes and vehicles.

Air Force Blue Members wear regulation Air Force uniforms, with CAP insignia.

Little Chute Man Pays For Being Disorderly

LITTLE CHUTE—Martin V. Van Gompel, Pierce Ave., Little Chute, posted bond of $15 on a charge of disorderly conduct. He was arrested by village police Sunday after a disturbance on the street with several other youths.

nia, purchased from Air Force supply channels.

The squadron meets weekly at 7 p. m. Tuesdays in Franklin School, Appleton. It has 37 senior members and 36 cadets (junior members). One plane, a Piper L-4, serves the Fox Cities and Green Bay squadrons on a rotation basis.

CAP cadets from the 52 United States wings can enter the Air Force jet orientation course, which puts them in line for pilot training, if they wish. Certificates of proficiency awarded by the CAP wing help them to earn one promotion each in the Air Force.

Alert In May, the Fox Cities Squadron assisted in the nationwide Civil Defense alert. The mobile unit, in a converted Air Force bus, was moved to LaCrosse and set up to direct state operations. Two planes were at the Appleton airport to be available for flight missions. One test mission was to check simulated bomb damage at the state reformatory at Green Bay, the other to test for simulated nuclear fallout at Winnebago State Hospital.

The local squadron was begun in 1942 and was disbanded at the end of World War II. It was reactivated in 1948.

Capt. Max Sagunsky, operator of the Appleton airport, is squadron operations officer. Dr. Milo Swanton, a captain, is medical officer. Atty. Karl P. Baldwin is legal officer, with captain's rank. Maj. C. Florian Merbs, former commander and cadet commandant, is on wing staff. Merbs, Maj. Ralph Juneau, Menasha dentist, and Maj. Orville Prokash, Menasha restaurateur, are former commanders also on wing staff.

Other Events The Air Force at the Fox Point center, Thursday to Friday, also will include:

Parachuting demonstration. Survival and Civil Defense equipment. Missile display. Space suit exhibit. Movies of the Air Force Thunderbirds, precision flying team. Helicopter rides, all three days, on the parking lot.

Boys' Brigade Drum and Bugle Corps performance at 7 p. m. Thursday and 3 p. m. Saturday. Flight demonstration of a radio-controlled 75-inch wingspan model plane, flown by Richard DeKoch.

Council to Consider Higher Fees for Tavern Licenses

Menasha's Present Rates Rank Among Lowest in Wisconsin

MENASHA — Increased tavern liquor and beer licenses will be on tonight's Menasha Common Council agenda, the committee of the whole decided Monday.

Proposed fees would be $200 for liquor licenses and $100 for beer licenses in the city's 31 taverns. Present fees are $65 for liquor, the lowest such fee in Wisconsin, and $75 for beer, third lowest in the state.

State law sets $50 minimum and $500 maximum for tavern liquor licenses and $100 maximum for beer.

Neenah fees are $75 for both types, Appleton's $150 for liquor and $100 for beer.

The council's health and license committee is recommending the higher fees. Ald. John Gollner said that taxes have gone up many times, but not tavern licenses, even though taverns add to the amount of police work.

Still Averages

Average tavern liquor fees are $217, from Menasha's $65 to $450, beer licenses average $90, from $25 to $100 in the third-class city group.

Ald. Robert Mielke committee chairman, said his idea had been legal fees over the condemnation to raise the fees in two steps in May of a home on Water street, Gollner disagreed, saying the overturned by circuit court with council would hear complaints the city ordered to pay court costs. State law allows city building inspectors to condemn except where councils reserve the right to condemn.

Allen E. Merrill building inspector, acted within his powers, City Atty. Richard J. Steffens said. Merrill told the council he had not gone inside the building before condemning, which was the major cause of the city's losing the case.

Lot For Sale

The vacant lot at Fourth and Manitowoc streets, former site of a sewage pumping station, may be put up for sale on public bids, the council agreed. The money should be earmarked for a city garage architect fees, Gollner suggested.

The city attorney suggested the council pass an ordinance to allow the mayor to appoint two members of the Menasha-Neenah Relief Group, with Neenah to do likewise. The four Twin City directors then would appoint a relief director.

The idea would give the commissioners the same powers they had over the years. At the Street and Plank Road, last council meeting, Steffens told the aldermen the relief group A. Krueger, 47, 218 E. Murray Ave., Appleton, who told police companies.

The aldermen agreed to wait until next month before taking action.

Menasha Firm Sets Safety Mark

MENASHA — Wisconsin Container Corp. Monday congratulated its employees, who had reached their first goal in the new safety contest — 100 accident-free days. The safety awards program began May 24 with a recognition dinner for employees.

The contest is based on team competition for superior achievement in accident prevention. Each of the three teams maintained a perfect no-accident record.

As a result, each employee will receive a merchandise award. Values of prizes will increase as subsequent goals are reached. Next goal is 200 accident-free days.

Teams are the entire work force, with membership at improvements, citing poor business conditions for sales.

Team captains are Walter Sell, Lyle Gabrielson and Robert Helms.

Unidentified Animal Frightens Hunters

Family of Cougar-Size Cats Believed in Ogdensburg Area

BY DICK MCDANIEL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OGDENSBURG — Hunters in this area believe there is more fact than fiction to reports that there may be a family of large cats of the cougar size roaming in the large wooded area southeast of here.

Although cougar has been mentioned a number of times by many of the hunters, the big cats have not been positively identified. Possibility of it being a bobcat has been ruled out by Wayne Larsen, a Soil Conservation Service employee, who saw the strange animal.

Reports that the animal stalked Larsen on two occasions has stimulated interest and has cooled the hunting enthusiasm of average hunters, who do not feel inclined to confront such an animal.

There have been numerous reports here stating that the animal has a weird cry, that normally is heard around midnight when members of the cat family are known to roam for food. The cry, hunters report, is used to scare small game into jumping out of their hiding or nesting places to become the prey of the cats.

Hear Cries

The fact that there may be a family of the strange animals has been based on the cries coming from different directions at the same time. In one instance, hunters planning to stalk the animal heard a cry from their car and when they started to unload their dogs and guns, another cry was heard behind them, indicating that there are at least two such animals in the area.

Donald and James Clumpner and Harlan Olson, local hunters, spent part of Sunday afternoon tramping around in the woods near the Larsen farm. While they did not see the animals, they did see some strange sights.

They found a large tree that had the bark clawed off the bottom up to about three feet high. They claim it could have been the work of a bear cub or some other big animal, possibly the one in question.

'Raz Cold'

The cat's cry is "enough to make your blood run cold" one of the area hunters reported. He said that he knows the sound of a bobcat, which resembles a human baby's cry, and said it was not a bobcat.

The presence of the strange animals also has been evident during the dog running time of the raccoon hunters, which closed Sept. 15. The hunters claimed their dogs acted as if they were afraid of the intruders in the woods.

While the presence of such an animal in the woods would tend to scare off other game, the trio of hunters Sunday said they found a lot of deer evidence in the woods, including many fresh tracks.

Coon hunters with their black and tans and other hounds pointed out that they do not want to risk their dogs in the woods with the unknown animal.

There is a possibility of bringing in a few wolf hounds from the Caroline area to help press the hunt. All of the hunters interviewed feel the animals should be found and identified.

Rex Oatman, Waupaca County conservation warden, and Gene Wilson, a professional guide from Waupaca, are completing plans to organize a night hunt to identify the unknown visitors.

In the meantime, only the most curious hunters are taking to the woods in the Larsen farm area. The prospects of finding the animals may improve if organized hunts are held.

Larsen first made contact with the animal in 1958. He was walking down the lane when it started to circle him, making a hissing sound. He picked up a piece of metal off an old harness and kept going.

He said the cat was bigger than a bobcat, had a big head and long tail. He saw a picture of a Canadian lynx and said it was not a lynx.

Boy of the Month Mark Mueller, right, talks about scouting with future scout Steven Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Smith, Shawano. The picture was taken at Gardner Dam Boy Scout camp. Mueller served on the staff for the last two summers.

Negotiations Underway for Railroad Crossing Guard

NEENAH — Negotiations are underway with Chicago and North Western Railway officials to provide signalman protection at the S. Commercial Street crossing from the time it is opened next week until the new automatic warning signals are installed. Mayor Chester S. Bell said today.

The State Highway Commission will not allow that part of the street to be used unless there is crossing protection. The road is scheduled to be opened to the public at 11 a.m. Sept. 28.

Bell said the State Highway Commission had planned to place barricades at the railroad crossing.

GM Starts to Resume Work

New Contract to Be Accepted or Rejected Tomorrow

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors resumed limited-passenger car production today for the first time since a wave of wildcat strikes halted output at the huge auto maker's 129 plants Sept. 11.

More than 3,000 assembly line workers returned to GM's Oldsmobile plant in Lansing, Mich., following final agreement yesterday on local plant issues between the company and the United Auto Workers Union.

GM's GMC truck and coach division resumed production at Pontiac, Mich., yesterday.

Today is decision day because the UAW's 230-member General Motors Council has been summoned to meet at 2 p.m. Wednesday to approve or reject a new contract. The council is made up of local union presidents and shop committeemen from across the country.

Effects of local-level walkouts have spilled over into Canada, just the freshman year," Schmidt stated. "The purpose of the committee is to study the reading problem at our school to determine what equipment and material we need. Part of this study includes plans to send several teachers to a reading conference next month where nationwide authorities will discuss the latest techniques for teaching reading."

Schmidt said, members of the English department are excited about the program and the Thilco Foundation grant provides a new incentive. "Financial aid usually is directed toward the sciences with blame for poor teaching often leveled at the English department," he said. "Now we will be able to expand and modernize our reading improvement program."

A variety of teaching aids such as mechanical devices, reading tools, special books and other materials are now available for reading improvement instruction, some of which are being used at the school. Being considered by the committee are reading accelerators and projectors with timing equipment to permit flashing of reading material on the screen.

Describing the projector, Schmidt noted when a student looks out materials he is to read will be on the screen for a short period, that he won't be able to back and re-read it, he will concentrate harder. Thus in the long

Kaukauna Plans For Reading Program

Thilco Foundation Donates $1,000 to Purchase Equipment

KAUKAUNA—A program delivering into modern techniques of teaching reading in Kaukauna High School became a reality last week when the Thilco Foundation presented a $1,000 check to the school to set up such a program.

Walter Schmidt, principal, indicated initial plans call for a thorough study of the problem followed by purchase of special equipment and materials to carry out a reading improvement program at all levels in the school.

Named to the committee to study the matter are Miss Frances Corry, head of the English department; Mrs. Ethel Deloria, currently teaching reading improvements at the freshman level; Dennis Kroll, who worked in this area last year, and Schmidt.

Principal Speaks

"We feel reading improvement programs are needed throughout the four years of high school, not just the freshman year," Schmidt stated. "The purpose of the committee is to study the reading problem at our school to determine what equipment and material we need. Part of this study includes plans to send several teachers to a reading conference next month where nationwide authorities will discuss the latest techniques for teaching reading."

Guy McCosiron, Thilco, board chairman, said, Thilmany is concerned about the reading ability at the high school level because when many of these students leave school they are going to find their jobs difficult if they haven't formulated good reading habits. "Good reading ability, not just ability to read, has become increasingly important in all phases of industry. Those going on to college will find that good reading ability is extremely important to carry out their study programs," McCosiron concluded.

Judge Sets Up Rigid Help Plan for Three

Sentence Put Off Six Months; Pair Must Mend Ways, Boy Must Find Work

A Municipal Court case against an Appleton couple and a rural Hortonville youth was continued for six months today by Judge Gustave Keller in an apparent effort to straighten out their family problems by setting up a rigid self-help program.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe J. Jarek, 2530 N. Lyndale Ave., and Nathan Drephal, 17, route 1, Hortonville, were arrested by Outagamie County Patrolman Stanley Arnold at 2 a. m. Sunday on State 47 near construction work on new U. S. 41.

Jarek, 29, was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. His wife, Delores, 28, was charged with drunkenness and Drephal, her brother, was charged with transporting liquor.

Returned With Girl
Arnold said he found a bottle of ginger brandy in the car. He said Mrs. Jarek was drunk in the back seat and Drephal was sitting in the front. As he was about to bring them in, Jarek returned to the car with an 18-year old girl, he said.

The Jareks said in court that they were separated and were "trying to patch things up". The trio was first brought to court Monday morning. Judge Keller sent them to jail until 3:30 p. m., and at that time reviewed the case and sent them to jail again for sentencing this morning.

The three will report back to the court in March for final disposition of the case. During the six month interim, Judge Keller set up several requirements.

Stay Out of Bars
Mrs. Jarek must quit her job, stay out of taverns and bowling alleys, keep her house and children clean, see the children are sent to school with lunches, work with the pastor of her church and keep all liquor and beer out of the house.

Jarek must support his family and comply with the conditions set up for his wife. The judge reminded him that he is subject to a $500 fine, a year in jail or both.

Drephal must either go to school or get a job.

He further required that the welfare department make regular front. As he was about to bring them that if they appeared in his court again on other charges they probably would get the maximum penalty.

The Jareks posted $500 property bond and Drephal posted a $50 bond.

Freshman Senator Feels Ike Will be Active in 1962 Presidential Race

BY RICHARD P. POWERS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Henry C. Schadeberg, R - Wis., came from a visit with Dwight D. Eisenhower at Gettysburg, Pa., this week with the impression the former President will be active in the 1962 Republican congressional campaign.

Schadeberg was one of a group of 38 first-term Republican members of the House who were Eisenhower's guests for a day at the Gettysburg farm.

Eisenhower also guided his guests on a tour of the Civil War battlefield.

Schadeberg said he believes Eisenhower will take a more active role in politics now that he is out of the White House than when he was the chief executive.

"I think," Schadeberg said, "that before he did not want to mix politics with the welfare of the country, but now he feels that basic matters affecting the country must be considered."

Although Eisenhower has said Galloway Co. was elected chairman of the South Commercial Street Businesses at a meeting Monday night at the Eagles Club.

He succeeds Ray Meyer of Northwestern Cash Register Co. and will serve for six months.

The business group planned the celebration Sept. 27, which will mark the opening of S. Commercial Street.

On the executive committee will be John Cody, John Galloway, Howard Penney, Gordon Schmidt, Robert Abraham, Palmer "Jim" Cummings, Charles Levick, Mrs. Ann Steffens and John Konrad, the latter as ex-officio member through his office as Chamber of Commerce secretary.

Martin is to submit three names to the executive committee, which will pick one for the post of vice chairman.

The business group named Cummings as parade chairman and Schmidt as his assistant. The parade is open to any business or person. Entries are to be submitted to Schmidt or the Chamber of Commerce office.

Man Suffers Bruises
NEENAH—Pinned to a super-calendar by a roll of paper, Harvey Julius, 57, 507 E. Columbian Ave., Monday night escaped with bruises on his right knee and left hip.

He was taken to Theda Clark Memorial Hospital for examination after the accident at Bergstrom Paper Co. The paper roll had shipped off a fork-lift truck.

feels deeply about cutting domestic spending.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., has introduced a bill to return the Stockbridge - Munsee Indian community in Shawano County to federal government nearly 30 years ago.

The lands, considered sub-marginal, were taken under the National Industrial Recovery Program and the Farm Security Administration.

Proxmire said the lands were under the Agriculture Department for years but recently were turned over to the Interior Department to be administered for same product to Milwaukee pays only $3.84.

One of the reasons for this, he said, is a disparity in shipping rates that favors imports.

As an example, Wiley said, a Wisconsin producer shipping cheese products to Marseille has to pay $8.38 a hundred pounds while the French shipper of the same product to Milwaukee pays only $3.84.

"It is shown," he said, "that similar injustices are worked against other American industries which vitally touch and concern the economic welfare of nearly every state in the union. Among these industries are electrical products, steel, glass and ceramic tile."

Wiley said the international shipping rates are established by various shipping conferences which file their rates with the U. S. Maritime Commission.

The right way to invest in stocks & bonds

Lots of people these days are planning to become investors for the first time. If you are one of them we'd like to recommend four steps to follow.

STEP ONE: Choose your broker with care. Many an unwary investor has regretted buying worthless stock from a stranger who delivered a high-pressure sales talk on the telephone. You'll be wise to visit a nearby Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. Every Registered Representative there has met the Exchange's qualifications for knowledge of investing. He's not infallible—no one is. But he can help you choose sensibly from a wide variety of good securities.

STEP TWO: Follow these wise rules for investing. Use only money you don't need for living expenses or emergencies. And invest on the basis of facts—never on tips or rumors. You'll be wise to consider bonds, too, for their prices and income are normally more stable and may fit your situation. You can expect the price of both stocks and bonds to go down as well as up. And a company may run into trouble and stop paying a dividend or interest. You'll want to consider those with good records and those that appear to have the best prospects.

STEP THREE: Ask yourself this question: Which is most important to me—future growth, present income or safety of principal? Some companies may pay relatively high dividends. Others may pour back more of their profits in expansion, leaving less (perhaps nothing) available for dividends. Bonds usually provide a more stable income and greater safety of principal.

STEP FOUR: Send the coupon below for "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS." This free booklet is packed with valuable information. You'll find the records of some 470 stocks that have paid a cash dividend every year for 25 years or more. And a description of the Monthly Investment Plan through which you can acquire stock in famous companies by investing with as little as $40 every three months or as much as $1,000 a month. Send the coupon before you forget.

Man Will be Sentenced Friday For Burglary
OSHKOSH — John Henneman, 22, Oregon City, Ore., pleaded guilty Monday to the July 19 burglary of the Oshkosh Public Library and also to escaping from the Oshkosh Police Station.

Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane set sentencing for 10 a. m. Friday and ordered Henneman held without bond. Henneman was returned Sunday from Oregon, where he was arrested more than a week ago. He waived extradition and was returned by Undersheriff Arvin Schroeder and Sgt. John Zernach of the Oshkosh Police.

An alert Oshkosh policeman arrested Henneman and a companion, Robert Stillings, 23, Pierre, S.D., after he heard the sound of breaking glass in the library. He noticed the two young men and took them into custody.

Henneman later escaped from the police station while a policeman was taking Stillings into another room. Stillings has been placed on probation for two years for his part in the library entry.

Senate Turns Down Curbs on Filibusters
WASHINGTON (AP) — A session-end effort to strengthen the senate's anti-filibuster rule was dropped today when an attempt to limit debate on the move was defeated.

By a 46-35 vote, the senate tabled and thus killed a motion to consider a new rule that would have permitted filibusters to be choked off by three-fifths of the senators present and voting. The senate then turned to consideration of a new voting law for the District of Columbia.

More Speed, Bullpen Help Sought By 'Birdie' Tebbetts for 1962

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Milwaukee Braves Manager Birdie Tebbetts has started planning for 1962, and says the ball club needs more speed and help in the bullpen. "One thing we need and I want to add is more speed," Tebbetts said Monday. "We have a few guys who can run but not enough."

And then Tebbetts added a shocker. "We may have to sacrifice power to get it." He didn't elaborate on the theme, however. "Another thing we would like to correct is our bullpen," Tebbetts went on. "Maybe we can find the fellow among the pitchers we now have, maybe not."

"Ron Piche could be the one, and one of these days I am going to spot him as a starter and get a better idea of what he can do," Tebbetts said. "Don't be surprised if I switch to him just before game time. I don't want him worrying all night."

In a move toward solving the speed problem, Tebbetts said the Braves plan a long, hard look next spring at outfielder Howie Bedell, who toured with Louisville this year. Bedell's a speedster and a sound hitter, but he lacks

Kennedy Awards Muncie Silver Bowl, Torpedo Boat Pin
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy awarded hydroplane driver Bill Muncie of Seattle a huge silver bowl Monday for his victory in the President's Cup regatta. Then he smilingly bestowed on Muncie a small torpedo boat pin — the emblem of Kennedy's presidential campaign last year.

The obviously delighted Muncie was asked by a reporter as the ceremony ended whether he valued the pin more than the cup. "You bet I do," Muncie grinned.

Notre Dame Appears To Have Talent for Strong '61 Comeback

Four Sophomores Make Break Into All-Senior Lineup

BY JERRY LISK

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—As might befit a Notre Dame football team which last year hit a low in the school's glorious history, "The 1961 Fighting Irish have an intense desire to retaliate."

Those are the words of coach Joe Kuharich, who seemingly has the talent to make a rousing comeback from last year's 2-8 record, which included the longest Irish losing streak — eight straight, between an opening vic-

Larry Kopitz. The team's quarterbacking didn't look too strong in the Madison game.

WEST — Coach John Biolo rates his defense as stronger than his offense. However, the "Cats" scored the most total points (31) in the 3-cornered exhibition game with GBE and Premontre — although they lost to the Cadets, 13-12. Glenn Holuber, center and linebacker, is the top returning lineman.

MANITOWOC — Eleven returning lettermen (four backs and seven linemen) form an outstanding nucleus of experience. The Frank Granitz — coached team Snowden, currently rated third in the two Rivers, 30-7, in its stringers, are as fast as any Irish pre-conference opener. Mike Schupper is rated a good quarterback, with Don Chermak and Dick Vnuk dangerous running backs. Dave Wagner, Jerry Thompson and Gene Grobeck provide talent and depth at ends. Darryl Lamonica at quarterback, one of several spots which plagued the Irish painfully last season.

SOUTH — Coach Leroy Anderson's gridders won, 24-12, over a "green" Kenosha team, which has only four lettermen. One of the Redmen's key players, quarterback Gary Kampman, was held out of the Kenosha game because of a question-mark knee. But, South has 10 other lettermen who figure to improve the team's victory record of '60. Lettermen include backs Bill Dickman, Bill Mueller and linemen Dennis Lefin, John Cinealis, Gene Bohman and Jack Kreuter.

APPLETON — The Terrors have the fewest number of lettermen — two — yet a combination of 60 varsity reserves, JV graduates and promising sophs could add up to a dangerous team once it gains experience. The Ad Dillon — directed forces beat Menasha — but not with the ease the 4-touchdown margin suggests.

EAST — New Coach Al Mancheski has brought a new formation, the Twing, into the league (It is a variation of the short punt formation). Tailback Jim North scooted 86 and 78 yards for TDs in the all-Green Bay triangular. Fullback Jim Murphy is another standout among the five Red Devil lettermen.

NORTH — Larry Rock is the acting head coach in the stead of the incapacitated Bob Root. The seven Raider letter winners include Bill Dwyer, Bill Farrey and Wally Busse. The Raiders lost, 13-0, to Kaukauna in their opener.

FOND DU LAC — Joe Capicik has one of the weakest teams of his 17 years as Cardinal coach. Fondy was drubbed, 55-7, by Neenah. The only three returning lettermen from last year's strong (5-2) team are tackles Larry Olsen and Mike Pittler and halfback Charley Bloedorn.

Ralph Dupas, No. 1 'Welter' Contender, Declares Bankruptcy

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Ralph Dupas, the No. 1 contender for the welterweight title in boxing, has declared bankruptcy, claiming he owes more than $12,000.

Dupas, who is scheduled to meet Del Flanagan of St. Paul, Minn., in a 10-rounder here next Monday, said in his petition Friday he lost more than $6,000 gambling in the past year.

He listed his income as a boxer at $16,165 in 1960 and $14,520 in 1959.

Among his assets, he listed a $3,000 cabin cruiser and a $244 set of encyclopedias, on which he said he still owed $141.

story over California and a closing triumph over Southern California. The wrath of the many Irish followers over the dismal season still is reaching this campus, perhaps underscored by a letter addressed from one alumni group to co-captain and guard Nick Buoniconti. The letter was summed up in a phrase stating, "We're tired of hanging our heads and apologizing for Notre Dame football."

In Dressing Room That missive is tucked up in the Irish dressing room, and obvious to nobody is more tired of ex-comeback from last year's 2-8 record, which included the longest Irish losing streak — eight since he left the Washington Redskins helm to succeed Terry Brennan, has a composite Notre Dame record 7-13.

However, he warily comments on the task of facing a 10-game gauntlet to be run against Oklahoma (Sept. 30 opener), Purdue, Southern California, Michigan State, Northwestern, Navy, Pittsburgh, Syracuse, Iowa and Duke. "No question we'll be an improved team," said Kuharich.

"It is entirely possible for a coach to plan an improved game and not win it. But we're convinced this squad will go all out to redeem last year's showing. These boys, week after week, will give a real gallant effort. Given a favorable bounce of the ball they'll be pretty tough."

Four Sophomores Notre Dame's first unit is a senior team, but it won't be for long, because as many as four sophomores are boomed as whizzes. Particularly 230-pound fullback Paul Costa, 205-pound fullback Jim Snowden and Frank Budka, a crackerjack quarterback from Pompano Beach, Fla.

Despite their heft, Costa and Jim Martin's field goal try in the third last three and a half minutes in a combined effort with Dave Hamner.

Other than the two touchdowns moves the Lions never go much beyond mid-field.

The Lions' TDs, both by Pietro sante, were scored on moves of 32 and 46 yards in the first half.

The first was set up on a 45-yard pass from Morrall to Gail Cogdill and the second was set up on Yale Lary's fourth-down 14-yard run from punt formation.

The Pack's defense was anchored by Willie Davis and Hank Jordan, the hard and quick hitters who accounted for 18 tackles. Davis had 10 stops. Jordan, besides his eight tackles, blocked Jim Martin's field goal try in the third last three and a half minutes in a combined effort with Dave Hamner.

Brautigam's 256 Game Leads League

Dick Brautigam boomed a 256 game—the highest of his league bowling career—and finished with a 534 series to pace the Tavern League's second session of the season at Hahn's.

Badger has taken the team lead, with a 5-1 record.

Wayne Steinberg socked the leading series—a 597—in the Universal League at the 41 Bowl.

Bob Wogland compiled the best series, a 566, in the Nut Couples League at the 41 Bowl.

Other high scores in the Tavern League:

Gordy Little 579, "Sarge" Kranzusch 575, Ray Crane 572, Al Seeman 568, Wayne Eastman 567, "Kat" Kassube 556, Leo Wahl 555, Frank Delonga 555, Gordy Sievers 552, Bill Bruce 551, Jerry Menard 551.

Musial Receives Check, Turns It Over to Hospital

PITTSBURGH (AP)—St. Louis Cardinals' star Stan Musial was honored Monday for his 20 years in the major leagues and presented a $1,000 check at a Saints and Sinners Club luncheon.

Musial, a native of Donora, Pa., immediately turned over the check to Children's Hospital. He also was honored before the St. Louis-Pittsburgh game Sunday.

Musial entered the majors on Sept. 17, 1941.

President Warren Giles of the National League said the league has "great admiration for Stan's integrity and his ability. We are thankful to him for the prestige he has brought to the National League and to all of baseball."

PARIS—Rafiki King, Nigeria, topped Gracius Lempari, France, 6 (Featherweights).

But, added Foss, there will be no announcement from his office on what action was taken since there is a league rule that such information may not be revealed.

Ramsey, however, can tell what was done if he desires, Foss added.

Foss will be ruling from actual observation. He was in the press box at Buffalo at the time and Harry Wismer, owner of the New York Titans, protested to him personally.

Wismer said he would make a formal complaint but Foss said this wasn't necessary. "Since I saw the incident there is no need for anybody making a written protest," said Foss.

Foss would not say what he had observed but from the way he talked it was indicated he didn't think the matter was very serious.

Wismer charged that Ramsey slugged Dorow "and it cost us the game." The incident occurred during a sideline melee. Buffalo won 41-31.

Debut of Tarkenton Still Being Heralded

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) —The debut of the Minnesota Vikings professional football team is history, but the spectacular performance of rookie quarterback Francis Asbury Tarkenton is still being heralded.

The general question being asked around the state is, "Who is this Tarkenton kid who so capably led the Vikings to victory in his first professional game?"

"This Tarkenton kid" is a soft-spoken mild-mannered Southern boy who played his college ball with the University of Georgia in much the same manner in which he broke into the big time in the Vikings' 37-13 conquest of the Chicago Bears Sunday.

Son of Minister The son of a Methodist minister in Athens, Ga., Tarkenton was named for the first Methodist bishop to come to America—Francis Asbury. He is a deeply religious boy who is quiet and retiring off the field, but transforms into a cunning, explosive football player when the game starts.

The 21-year-old signal-caller was best known at Georgia for his ability to move the team. One of his college coaches described Tarkenton as "the golden thread that weaves a pattern down the field to score."

Never known as an outstanding long passer Tarkenton was more

Nichols Edges Bonduel, Wins Playoff Title

WINNERS SMASH 3 HOMERS IN 'DAIRYLAND' FINALE

BONDUEL — Nichols powered three homers, two with men on, to edge Bonduel, 8-7, for the Dairyland Baseball League championship in a playoff Sunday.

The victory gave Nichols the title with two wins in the 3-game series.

Bonduel found the home run range twice. Delano Wudtke hit one in the first inning with a mate aboard to give Bonduel a 2-0 lead that held up until the eighth when Aaron led off.

Nichols exploded for four runs in the fifth. Don Krull sent two home when he poked a long 4-bagger. Ed Plamann connected with another blast in the same inning.

Bonduel tied the score at 4-all with a pair of runs in the last of the fifth but the victors came back with four more in the top of the seventh. Mickey Armitage had a homer with a man on in the seventh to highlight the rally.

The losers cut the margin to 4-3 when Don Krull homered with a man on in the last of the seventh. Bonduel started a rally that netted a run in the last of game and running ability.

Head coach Wallace Butts of the ninth After Roger Boettcher had doubled and scored a run, Georgia said of his star, "Francis is the most effective medium-range passer I've seen in the conference. He's developing into a real dangerous runner and he's always been a great ball-handler and play-caller."

Joe Buss was the winning pitcher for Nichols. Buss had seven strikeouts and four walks. Armitage started for Bonduel and went 4 and 1-3 innings, walking one batter. Don Krull finished with 2 and 1-3 innings, walking seven.

Michigan Loses Another Guard Via Injury

Five Promoted to Varsity Platoons At Illinois Camp

CHICAGO (AP)—Midwest Football briefs:

Michigan — Sophomore guard John Marcum has been lost to the Wolverines for the season because of a knee injury. He is the third guard to be sidelined because of knee difficulties.

Illinois — Center Stan Yukevich, guard Tony Zeppella, and Steve Thomas, tackle Bob Scharbert and fullback Mike Summers were promoted to Illinois' varsity platoons. Among those dropped to the third team was end Thurman Walker.

Northwestern — Halfback Al Kimbrough, in addition to his duties on offense, might be used on defense this season. Kimbrough and Roland Wahl were the top defensive stars during Northwestern passing drills.

Minnesota — After viewing movies of Saturday's scrimmage, Coach Murray Warmath shuffled his backfield alignment with Tommy King replacing Bill Munsey and Jerry Jones taking over for Judge Dickson. Munsey has a sprained knee and will be out for a week.

Purdue — Purdue started final preparations for Saturday's opener with Washington by working on defense. Coach Jack Mollenkopf was disappointed with Saturday's scrimmage.

Indiana — Wingback Doug Lackey, a sophomore who apparently had nailed down a starting assignment in Saturday's opener against Kansas State, is injured. Lackey pulled a ligament in his knee during scrimmage Saturday and could miss the Kansas State game.

Ohio State — Minor injuries kept a number of Buckeye first stringers out of action but Coach Woody Hayes' big worry is end Bob Middleton. Middleton has a rib separation and has participated in only two practice sessions.

Notre Dame — Nerve complications were diagnosed as part of Max Burnell's knee injury and the senior end will be lost to the Irish the rest of the season. Meanwhile, end Les Traver rejoined the squad after being out with a knee injury.

Mahaffey Has Skull Fracture, X-Rays Disclose

CINCINNATI (AP)—X-rays taken Monday disclosed that Art Mahaffey, Philadelphia Phils pitcher, suffered a skull fracture over his right eye when hit by a thrown ball in Sunday's game with the Cincinnati Reds.

Dr. George Ballou, Reds' physician, said, however, that the young hurler, a native of Cincinnati, "is doing very nicely." He said Mahaffey probably would be hospitalized three or four days.

Mahaffey was hurt in the ninth inning of the game when he went into second base standing up on an attempted sacrifice by Bobby Malkmus. Cincinnati pitcher Jim Brosnan threw to shortstop Eddie Kasko to retire Mahaffey but Kasko's throw from only a few feet away hit the Phil hurler over the eye.

Lucille Schmidt Thumps 255

KAUKAUNA—Lucille Schmidt, of Meuleman Electric, pounded a 255 singleton and 543 series to lead the Women's Bowling League at the Bowling Bar.

Other honor counts were posted by: Lorraine Farrell, 195, and Irene Thelen, 192, 193, 543.

LITTLE CHUTE—Marvin DeBruin, of Boots TV, rattled a 568 series to lead the Businessmen's Bowling League at Recreation Alley. Roger Jansen rolled a 554 set.

DARBOY — Max Kroiss, of Kirk and Gosz, slammed a 564 series to lead his team to three wins in opening round action in the Darboy Kegling League at the Bowling Bar.

KIMBERLY — Stan Berndt, of No. 1 Paper Machine, hit a 562 series to pace the Kimberly Mill League at Jerry's Lanes.

Brian London Will Fight Machen

LONDON—(AP)—Brian London, former British heavyweight boxing champion, signed Monday for a comeback bout against Eddie Machen, a leading contender from Portland, Ore.

Promoter Harry Levene said the fight will be at London's Wembley Indoor Stadium Oct. 17.

Executives Work During Breakfast

BY SYLVIA PORTER

TY accepted what to me was an abominable invitation yesterday and accidentally walked into a new story about life in the executive suite of American industry. I went to an 8 a. m. breakfast meeting, only because there was no other time I could interview the men I wanted to see — and found to my surprise that the very early business breakfast is the latest thing among men at or on their way to the top.

Porter

The dining room of the plush midtown Manhattan hotel in which we met seemed to be unusually filled with men sitting in groups for so early an hour. These obviously weren't men eating breakfast together before separating to go to work. They were men already working at breakfast.

Next to us was a table of four men who were earnestly talking about a sales campaign. Across the room was a table of 12 and the man sitting at the head clearly was acting as chairman of a meeting. When our business session broke up shortly after 9 a. m., the room was filling up and many were unmistakably businessmen out to discuss business deals. I noticed that three separate business breakfasts had been scheduled for that one morning in that hotel—one starting at 8, two at 8:30.

Sylvia Slow Starter

You may be an individual who reaches a peak of mental alertness and physical well-being in early morning and the business breakfast may seem an entirely natural thing to you. I'm in the group way, way over on the other side and my attitude toward life in general and my job in particular improves as the day ages.

Charge Man With Marriage Claim To Get More Aid

A Kaukauna man is being held in Outagamie County jail on $1,000 bond on a charge that he made a false representation to gain public support, and accepted $889.26 in public assistance.

Harold DesJarlais, 43, 226 Canal St., Kaukauna, waived a preliminary hearing Monday when he appeared before Municipal Judge Gustave Keller. He was bound over to appear at 9 a. m. Friday.

DesJarlais is charged with accepting money from Dec. 1, 1960 to Sept. 1, 1961. He allegedly claimed he was married to qualify for increased aid. He told the court he was married Aug. 31.

Two Deny Charge Of Topsy Driving

Two men have pleaded innocent to charges of drunken driving. Both appeared before Municipal Judge Gustave Keller.

Howard R. Yocum, 41, 805 Ninth St., Menasha, posted $125 bond and will again appear in court Oct. 25. He was arrested Sunday on State 76, one mile north of U. S. 10.

William M. Schumacher, 50, route 4, Appleton, pleaded innocent Friday. He was arrested Sept. 15 at Wisconsin Avenue and Richmond Street. Bond was set at $125 and the trial will be Sept. 27.

New London Man Being Held in Jail

Wallace D. Shirland, 62, New London, is being held in Outagamie County jail pending payment of a $150 fine for drunken driving.

Shirland entered a plea of guilty Monday morning in Municipal Court and was sent to jail for sentencing in the afternoon.

He was arrested by a state patrolman Sunday night on U. S. 45 near New London. He will automatically lose his right to drive for one year.

Thus, my interest in this new phenomenon of the business breakfast in American—and a new phenomenon it definitely is.

The breakfast meeting — arranged either by a single corporation, a business organization or a few individuals — is one of the fastest rising activities in the hotel field, a check at the headquarters of hotel chains in New York disclosed. What was an extraordinary hour for a serious work meeting a short time ago is becoming commonplace.

In all well-managed hotels, business breakfast business is climbing rapidly and in many hotels, receipts from this function are up 200, 300, 400 per cent over the mid-1950s. Hotelmen agree that, while they net less per customer per breakfast than at other meals — orange juice brings in less profit than scotch on the rocks — they benefit from use of facilities that otherwise would be idle.

Corporations also are discovering advantages in the business meeting at breakfast they didn't suspect a few years back. Said one Wall Street financier I phoned on this, "It's the easiest time to get a group of busy people together. There's no mid-day appointment to interfere as at lunch or social engagement to interfere as at dinner."

"Ready to Decide"

Most men who get to their offices at 9 or 10 are eating breakfast at 8 anyway, so they don't mind and at our breakfast meeting we find the men concentrate better, are more alert, ready to reach decisions, make sales or write orders.

The businessmen who go to the meetings favor the development too — although as one I queried remarked, "It's murder for commuters or if you've stayed out late the night before." The cost is much less. As one of my hosts remarked when I switched the subject to this, "Our bill will come to $3 or so a person. That's a fraction of what cocktails or dinner would cost and we're getting as much or more work done."

The angle of concentration was repeatedly emphasized by people I sampled as a key advantage. Apparently, yesterday I stumbled on an infant trend which will expand to lusty proportions in the years ahead. It will expand, though, without my participation — if I can help it.

Until Wednesday Morning Figures Show Low Temperature Expected (AP Wirephoto Map)

Rain and Windy Weather is forecast for the Atlantic seaboard Tuesday night. Widely scattered showers and thundershowers are predicted for the upper Mississippi Valley, north and central Plains and Rocky Mountain region, with some snow in higher elevations of Central Rockies. Much cooler weather is slated for the northern tier of states from the Rockies to the upper Mississippi Valley.

Governor's Attack on Lucey Aligns Party Officials Against Him

Proxmire, Reynolds, Others Back Chairman in Growing Vote Drive

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — In demanding the ouster of Chairman Patrick J. Lucey of the Democratic state committee, Gov. Gaylord Nelson has in effect challenged almost all of the other ranking leaders of his political party.

The resistance of the other top spokesmen of the party, in and out of public office, was probably not anticipated by the governor when he was persuaded to pit his power and prestige against Lucey in an effort to get a party machine commander more congenial to him and more amenable to his wishes and program.

But in the two weeks since Nelson's unprecedented public announcement that he wants to get rid of the party organization captain, whose tenure has coincided with the Democrats' greatest success in state history, Nelson has found the rest of the "brass" lined up against him.

Proxmire Opposed

Among them are Sen. William Proxmire, sometimes regarded as the ranking leader of his state party because his election preceded Nelson's. Atty. Gen. L. John W. Reynolds, who was elected at the same time as Nelson, David Rebovitz of Sheboygan and Mrs. Vel Phillips of Milwaukee, and James Doyle, the party chairman who preceded Lucey and is sometimes called the most influential private citizen within the Democratic organization.

The five Wisconsin congressmen representing the Democratic party are either pro-Lucey or significantly non-committal.

The senior member of the House of Representatives among Wisconsin Democrats, Rep. Clement Zablocki of Milwaukee, is openly backing Lucey.

Nelson's Man Liked

The governor has attracted to his anti-Lucey drive many of the members of the legislature, in part because his candidate, Assemblyman Frank Nici Nikolay of Clark County, is a popular member of the legislative Democratic caucus, in part because the governor is affectionately regarded by most Democrats in both legislative houses.

But it is doubtful that the legislators can exert as much influence upon the delegates to the Eau Claire convention next month as can the ranking party leaders from Proxmire on down.

Many of them will hesitate to involve themselves in the intra-party struggle for fear that they will damage their own campaign organizations and their prospects for re-election.

Big Drive On

Meanwhile the fight over the party machine command is taking on the trappings of a full-fledged election drive in both camps.

Lucey is stumping the state daily and next week will make a formal swing through the upper Wisconsin counties, much after the manner of a candidate for governor or other state-wide office, courting the votes of delegates who will have voting credentials at Eau Claire Oct. 13.

He has a theme that his associates believe is an effective one — his close and proved relationship with the Kennedy national administration which controls huge quantities of job patronage

Around Home

"Better late than never" could well be the motto of Myron Ballard of Ogdensburg.

Ballard's daughter, Mrs. Violet Bastian, 620½ W. Prospect Ave., reports he received a post card recently that was mailed April 23, 1910.

The one-cent post card, which had a Wausau postmark, showed a lumber camp scene in the Wausau area. It was mailed to Mrs. Matte Ballard, Myron's sister-in-law, who died in 1914.

Ogdensburg Postmaster Ernest Strom said the card arrived in Ogdensburg via an Oshkosh routing.

The most probable reason for the slowness in U.S. mail service, Strom explained, is that the card probably was mislaid in Wausau between the mailing and the delivery of the card.

Man Fined $35 on Failure of Have Control of Car

Norbert J. Lopata, 28, route 1, Abrams, Monday was arraigned before Municipal Judge Gustave Keller on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and failure to have his car under control.

Lopata pleaded guilty to the traffic charge and was fined $35. Bond was set at $250 on the other charge after Lopata waived a preliminary hearing. Trial was set for 9 a. m. Wednesday.

Lopata was the driver of a car that left County Trunk S near Freedom Sept. 15 and smashed it into a ditch. Two minor youths were injured. Lopata is charged with buying beer for one of them.

Power Firm to Build Gas Pipeline to Prison

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin Power and Light Co. was authorized by State Public Service Commission Monday to construct a natural gas pipeline from Wausau to serve the new medium security prison in the Town of Fox Lake.

The cost of the 8.7 mile line was estimated at $204,956.

Mr. Hooyman is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Ray (Mary) Stephani, Rt. 4, Appleton; one sister, Mrs. John Weyenberg, Rt. 1, Kaukauna, 7 on Ill.; three brothers, Boyd, Ogdensburg, Walter, Hawley, Mich., and Harry, Iola; two sisters, Mrs. Otis Olson, Milwaukee and Miss Carle Williamson, Marshfield; and 16 grandchildren. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Nelsonville Lutheran Church, Nelsonville, with Rev. I. B. Kindem, Pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, Appleton, officiating. Interment will be in the parish cemetery. Friends may call at the Wichmann Funeral Home from 3 p. m. Tuesday until 10 a. m. Wednesday. A military service will be held at the cemetery.

Mrs. Henry F. (Eva) Koepke

Rt. 1, Bonduel, Wis. Age 65, passed away at 7:15 Monday after a short illness. She was born July 30, 1896 in Kaukauna, the daughter of the late August Dickhoff and Augusta Rustau. On Feb. 26, 1919 she was married to Henry Koepke in Wrightstown, Wis., and spent most of her life in the Navarino area. Mrs. Koepke

St. Regis Paper Announce Price Rise on Two Lines

St. Regis Paper Co. has announced a four per cent price increase on multi-wall bags and pocket bags.

Multi-wall bags are used in shipping grocery products and building materials. Pocket bags are used to package sugar, flour and other food items in 5-pound and 10-pound weights.

St. Regis said the price increase, effective Sept. 30, reflects higher costs in raw material and labor.

It represents partial recovery of an industry-wide price cut of 7% on the same-type bags last April.

West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co. said it hadn't decided whether to follow St. Regis' price increase, but added, "it's reasonable to assume that other producers will go along."

Iceland Ceramics Presented to Mayor

About 120 people from northeastern Wisconsin were guests of Icelandic Airlines at the Conway Hotel Saturday to hear about the North Atlantic. Sigurdur Magnus, little known island nation in the son, an Iceland news commentator, presented some Icelandic ceramics to Mayor Clarence Mitchell, R. A. Delany, president of Icelandic Air Lines, spoke briefly. The meeting was one of several public relations gatherings held in Wisconsin by the airline.

Wednesdays.

Corrections or Cancellations
Want ads corrections or cancellations accepted to 8:30 a.m. for the same day publication.

IMPORTANT
Composition costs will be charged if an ad is ordered and cancelled before publication.

After an ad is ordered, it cannot be changed before one publication.

When cancelling an ad, demand a "kill number." No claims recognized on ads cancelled without it. The number of days an ad is published determines the rate of such ads.

Adjustments
The Appleton Post-Crescent assumes no responsibility for verbal statements in conflict with its established rules, policies or rates.

All claims for adjustments or refunds must be made within 7 days after expiration of ad.

Errors, not the fault of the advertiser, which make the advertisement less valuable, should be corrected the first day, when one extra corrected insertion will be published without charge. The Post-Crescent assumes no responsibility for error after the first insertion.

NOTICE
The Appleton Post-Crescent is exercising all precautions to avoid publishing any fraudulent or misleading advertising. However, if any ad appearing in the classified columns of the Post-Crescent can be proven fraudulent or misleading, we would appreciate your informing us immediately.

Farmer Not Out of Planners' Program

Land Reserved for Agriculture In Towns for Reserve, Production

BY BONNIE HARTSTOW
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Although the amount of agricultural land in the Fox Cities is expected to decrease as the population grows, the farmer is not forgotten in Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission's proposed land use plan.

The plan shows land to be reserved for agriculture in western Neenah, Menasha and Grand Chute towns, parts of vide, but subdivision pressure exceeds market capacity, the report states.

The areas shown on the Fox Valley proposed land use map are mainly those in which urban services cannot be provided as economically as in the areas marked for industrial, residential and commercial development.

No Bar Here

"Such a district would not bar non-rural development in entirety," the report explains. "Rather, it would restrict such development to large tracts (10 acres per family) which would be in harmony with the rural character of the district and which would keep non-farm population densities low to preserve the rural service structure."

Art Classes to Start Sept. 30 At Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — Registration in the fall and winter art classes is rapidly coming to a close and children interested are urged to call Mrs. Roger Belling, instructor, according to James Gertz, recreation director.

Classes will start Sept. 30 and will be held each Saturday until spring. Scheduled in art classes this year are projects which children are not able to do at home, or in school. These classes will be a broadening of home and school art training, the instructor said.

Special classes have been arranged for students ranging from pre-school to high school age. Class enrollment is limited and students will be accepted on a first enrolled basis.

Urban Demands

"Later the demands of the urban growth exceed the reserve capacities of capital improvements designed for rural use: roads become clogged, schools too small and rural services inadequate for urban needs. At this point, public expenditures rise rapidly.

"The farmer as a general taxpayer then must pay for services he does not need."

The farmer sometimes is driven by his taxes to subdi-

Tiny Metal Elephants Can March Across Your Desk

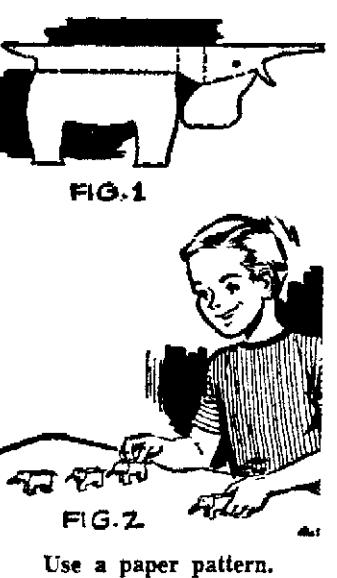

BY CAPPY DICK

How would you like to have a row of tiny metal elephants marching trunk-to-tail across your desk? You can make them out of very thin sheets of brass, copper or aluminum which can be bought at most hobby supply shops.

Figure 2 shows what the parade will look like and Figure 1 shows how to cut a pattern from the pattern you trace its outline. To make the pattern, fold a sheet of writing paper in half. With the fold serving as the top, draw the elephant's trunk, back and tail, draw the shape shown in Figure 1. From the tip of the trunk to the tip of the tail make the animal five inches long and one and three-fourths inches high.

GOP Tries to Get Nelson's Tax Compromise Before Convention

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — A part of the reason for the seemingly premature demands by the Republican legislative leadership upon Gov. Nelson for his compromise tax revision proposals is to get the Democratic executive on the record before his Democratic party's delegate convention in Eau Claire Oct. 13.

Republicans are concerned that the governor otherwise may be bound by a rigid anti-sales tax declaration of his party associates. If Nelson offers a conciliatory program before that time—as he has hinted in his talk about an excise tax on "luxuries"—the convention probably would not dare to repudiate him.

Organization workers tend to be more adamant in their positions facing the practical problems of office holding. The Republican convention demonstrated the idea in Eau Claire in June when it resolved against an income tax withholding law at the precise moment that the Republican legislature was preparing to make such a concession to Nelson in its sales tax bill.

Clifford McHugh of Calumet County has been chosen as new president of the Wisconsin Towns Association, which continues to enroll a healthy majority of the 1,300-odd town boards of Wisconsin as dues-paying members. He succeeds Franklin Gould of Marinette County.

Ben Hanneman of Wisconsin Rapids, veteran manager and lobbyist of the group, continues as secretary and Robert Mortenson of Madison has been re-appointed legal counsel.

Edward J. Samp, the old-line Republican who was dumped recently by Democratic Gov. Nelson as director of the securities department, is telling Madison friends that he dislikes his forced idleness and that he may run for office on the Republican state ticket next year.

He has mentioned the office of lieutenant governor, apparently on the supposition that Lt. Gov. Warren places where you folded the paper. The elephant will then stand erect. Make three or four of the creatures and stand them trunk-to-tail.

ren P. Knowles may vacate it. There is now a 50-50 chance that Knowles will bow to the suggestions of his friends and stand for the Republican convention endorsement for governor.

Samp was chairman of the Republican party organization in the early 1930's and later in that decade that was dominated by the LaFollette Progressive movement, unsuccessfully sought election as state treasurer and U.S. senator.

One of the minor incongruities of the troubled state of affairs in the Democratic party organization is the loyal backing of Party Chairman Pat Lucey by Tax Commissioner John Gronowski, in defiance of the fact that Gronowski is one of Democratic Gov. Nelson's key appointees and advisors and Nelson is determined to get rid of Lucey as the Eau Claire party convention next month.

The idea circulated by the governor's associates that there is an overwhelming anti-Lucey feeling in Democratic Dane County also seems to be challenged by the public declaration of Sen. Horace Wilkie of Madison, who must depend for his local elections on the backing of the Dane County organization, that he wants Lucey re-elected and is working to that end.

Liaison between the Republican legislative leaders and Republican state headquarters under Chairman Claude Jasper is close, effective, and productive.

Jasper is keenly aware that the state issues for 1962, whatever they turn out to be, will hinge upon the record of the Republican legislature and is maintaining a closer contact than has ever been achieved in Republican politics as a consequence. The Republican law-makers and their leaders, conversely, are getting more staff services from headquarters than ever before and are grateful for the fact.

The rebellion of Sen. Gerald Lorge of Outagamie County against the Outagamie County revision bill two months ago, which ended when he gave his key to the GOP majority to enable them to pass it, has apparently brought some comforting dividends to the Bear Creek politician.

Lorge had been grumbling a little about his lack of promotion in the Republican legislative caucus. But now the political goodies are coming. He has won a coveted seat on the Joint Legislative Council, and last week he was named to the 11 member Republican leadership committee to deal with Gov. Nelson in new tax revision negotiations. These are the tests of rank in statehouse politics.

Contrary to belief in some quarters, the dispute between Atty. Gen. Reynolds and Gov. Nelson about who should be chairman of the Democratic party organization does not directly relate to their ambitions for elective office next year. Reynolds is backing Chairman Patrick Lucey as an old friend.

The attorney general would like to run for U.S. senator next year, and almost surely will do so if Gov. Nelson does not, but he acknowledges that if the governor wants to run he will almost certainly be the first choice of most Democrats. Then Reynolds might run for the governorship, but that is less certain.
